

Jet Worldwide: Sustainable Development

At Jet Worldwide, we develop products and services specifically designed to benefit people. In doing so, we recognize that our economic objectives go hand in hand with our social responsibility objective of sustainable development.

We embrace sustainable development as a way of sustaining economic growth without harming our environment or exhausting its resources. We consider improving the quality of life of Canadians and the world citizens as part of our overall mission.

Jet's business is the means by which we combine hard work with creativity in connecting the world across national borders. Similarly, the world's natural resources should know no boundary and must be treated with global respect.

We will continue to monitor how our operations impact the environment and strive for continuous improvements. Beyond the maintaining the good will of our employees, customers, and vendors: We consider stewardship of our environment as an equal stakeholder in our decision processes.
