Agile Consulting Services

In today's digital world, business and technology needs are evolving at an amazing pace and highly competitive markets are forcing organizations to be innovative and deliver solutions to market faster. An Agile approach to software delivery enables organizations to achieve rapid time-to-market, early ROI, early risk reduction, better predictability, higher business-IT alignment, and increased customer satisfaction.

Practicing Agile delivery is not the same as 'being Agile'. Traditional organizational policies, varying cultural behaviors, and technical challenges can become roadblocks for Agile adoption. Some organizations counter this by changing their Agile practices to adopt or adapt to these roadblocks, which far too often creates secondary challenges and usually diminishes the value these organizations are looking to achieve from their Agile adoption journey.

While the Agile mindset can be easy to understand, it can also be difficult to master and even harder to integrate into an organization.

> Are you wondering where to start your Agile journey, or struggling to get business engaged?

> Is your adoption of Agile falling short of the expected benefits?

> Is resistance pulling your team off course?

> Has your Agile adoption plateaued?

If so you are not alone.

If you are experiencing any of these symptoms, Online's Agile Consulting Services may be the right choice for you. Using an experienced Agile coach in your transformation can be the difference between success and failure. In a similar way that you wouldn't toss a rulebook to a new baseball team, tell them to read it and expect them to perform well at the first game, Agile adoption requires training, coaching, and ongoing mentorship to drive optimal performance.

What Makes Online's Consulting Service Different

Whether you are new to Agile or midway through a transformation, Online's Agile coaches will utilize proven assessment tools to identify problem areas and tailor a plan to maximize the value of your Agile adoption. We offer:

> Executive coaching to ensure top-down alignment

> Team coaching for overcoming roadblocks

Online has experienced Scrum Masters, Product Owners, and team leaders that will work alongside your team to get the job to completion.

Online's Agile Consulting Services are successful not only because we have great coaches, but because we are a full-service consultancy. We offer a comprehensive range of services that will help organizations successfully adopt Agile through Test Automation, Organization Change Management, DevOps, Digital Transformations, and many other offerings.

Let Online Agile Consulting Services help your team achieve Agile excellence to enable true Business Agility.

> Agile is a mindset not just a methodology. Practicing Agile delivery is not the same as 'being Agile'. The real value of Agile is realized when the entire organization is 'Agile'.
