Delivering wellbeing to employees in 50+ countries worldwide, Grokker brings personalized, holistic wellbeing to a diverse and dispersed global workforce.

The Grokker Difference:
Global Engagement

Delivering wellbeing to employees in 50+ countries worldwide, Grokker brings personalized, holistic wellbeing to a diverse and dispersed global workforce.

Your employees may be located across multiple offices and time zones — but each employee is an individual with unique wellbeing goals, abilities, and interests. And in today’s competitive job market, top talent expects their employer to offer them personalized, consumer-grade tools and resources that enhance their quality of life no matter where they’re located. Employers need to provide global benefits that make it easy and fun to move more, eat better, improve their sleep, support their emotional health, and manage financial stress. The result is a win-win: a workforce that’s healthier, happier, more productive, and more engaged with their employer.

Reaching a geographically dispersed workforce is one thing; connecting with individual employees and getting them engaged in their health and wellbeing is another. With Grokker, you can achieve both — whether your global organization is launching a new wellbeing initiative, augmenting an existing platform with engaging content, or replacing multiple point solutions. Grokker’s holistic wellbeing solution meets employees where they are with personalized programs integrating all 5 dimensions of wellbeing — fitness, mental health, sleep, nutrition, and financial wellbeing — through consumer-grade, HD videos available anytime, anywhere, on any device.

“As we grow the number of employees globally, we need to make sure we can carry through our wellbeing program tenets across locations with solutions like Grokker.”
