Specs Howard School is giving you an inside look into the world of media by bringing radio, television, digital media, and graphic design professionals to you, right here at Specs Howard's satellite location! Media Career Day gives you the chance to hear from Specs Howard grads and how they got their start. This is your chance to ask the questions about the training and careers you've been considering for your future. Find out more about our three programs: Broadcast Media Arts, Graphic Design, and Digital Media Arts. Plus learn about scholarship opportunities and get career development tips.

Explore your options with us and enjoy a complementary lunch! If you're a high school student wishing to participate in High School Media Career Day, bring this invitation to your high school counselor or teacher to make your reservation. Attendance must be approved by a high school official.
