PAST Foundation is a non-profit education organization focusing on transforming education to better meet the needs of today's students. For 18 years, we have provided districts, schools, teachers, and communities with a process to deliver meaningful education – which differs for every learner. The PAST school design and strategy process enables entire communities to transform traditional classrooms and reach every student through problem-based learning and real world experiences. The results are engaged students, empowered teachers, and a community actively involved in student success. Through PAST programs and our R&D prototyping Innovation Lab, we bring schools, post-secondary, K12 and industry together to collectively design and build tomorrow's schools, today.
