

SAVING TAX FOR JUNIOR DOCTORS

With the average debt among students obtaining a medical degree standing at £27,000 and set to increase to £70,000 for those who started their degrees in 2012, it has never been more important to make sure you don't pay any more tax than you absolutely need to.

Quite simply for today's medical trainees, every penny counts. Seeking the assistance of an accountant or professional advisor like Wellers could really help you because there are various expenses you incur as a student that (you may not realise) could be tax deductible.

A review conducted by one of Wellers healthcare team could save you some much needed money in tax relief.
