Walk with the Lord

3

Imagine walking on an uneven road for four or five days straight. You are fatigued, but must press on. There is an urgency, but your physical health prevents you from traveling too quickly. This is the situation we can envision for Mary and Joseph. A very pregnant Mary is forced to travel the 90+ miles from her hometown of Nazareth to a little village called Bethlehem, because the government has ordered that everyone must return to their ancestral village. The timing is certainly inopportune, and yet everything is fulfilled that the prophets foretold through the Old Testament.

Imagine the mix of emotions they must have experienced – anticipation of being a new parent for the first time; fear that their baby would arrive during their travels; frustration that they had to travel in the first place; and joy with the realization that the words of the angel were coming true. All of this must have made this long walk very special and memorable. Throughout the entire journey, however, the Lord walked alongside them.

Ultimately, we too walk with the Lord. Through our life, we experience the same emotions as well – anticipation, fear, frustration, joy, and so many others. But what he continually asks us to do is to walk with him. There is danger that lurks for us if we walk away from the path that He is on. We quickly find ourselves subjected to the lures and temptations of our sinful nature. When we walk with the Lord there may still be pitfalls, but He is always right there to pick us up, protect us, lead us, and encourage us.

God's chosen people, in the Old Testament, were instructed to walk with the Lord by faithfully obeying Him and keeping His commands:

Fix these words of mine in your hearts and minds; tie them as symbols on your hands and bind them on your foreheads. Teach them to your children, talking about them when you sit at home and when you walk along the road, when you lie down and when you get up. Write them on the doorframes of your houses and on your gates. Deuteronomy 11:18-20

Our call is to love the Lord your God, walk in all his ways and to hold fast to him. This does not simply become actions, but our way of life. May we Stand Firm and Speak Truth as we walk with Him through all of life.
