

BIKING IN DC

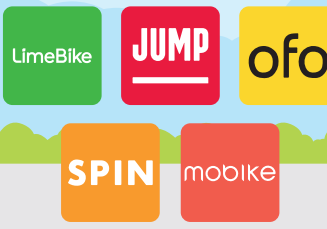

A comprehensive guide to understanding all your biking options in Washington, DC

WHAT'S AVAILABLE?

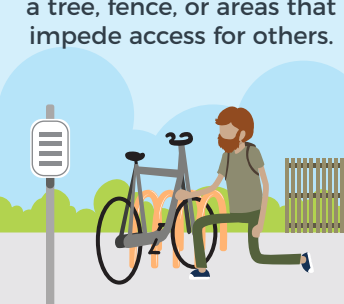

capital bikeshare

How to Access?	Where to Park?	Returning a Bike?	Reporting a Problem?
Rent via the Capital Bikeshare App or purchase memberships online or at a station.  $2/Trip	Return bike to a station or corral after completing trips. Rides over 30 minutes will incur usage fees. 	If a station is full and there are no remaining docks, go to another station to dock the bike. 	Report issues to customer service via phone number, email, website, or social media @bikeshare.  1-877-430-2453 customerservice@capitalbikeshare.com

Dockless Bikeshare

How to Access?	Where to Park?	Returning a Bike?	Reporting a Problem?
Rent via an App provided by the dockless bikeshare company. 	Check with the individual bikeshare service to see where you are allowed to park the bike. 	Bikes must maintain 5 ft. of pedestrian travel space without blocking access to private properties or driveways. 	Report issues to appropriate dockless bikeshare company via app or website.

Personal Bike

How to Access?	Where to Park?	How to lock your bike?	Reporting a Problem?
Use your personal bike to travel around the District. 	Park at a bike rack or signpost. Do not lock bike to a tree, fence, or areas that impede access for others. 	To properly secure your bike, use a U lock to lock the frame and back wheel to a bike rack or signpost. 	If you see an abandoned bike or any other issues in public space, report it to 311.

DID YOU KNOW?

Did you know that DC has over 145 miles of bike lanes and trails? Learn more about biking in the District and download the DC Bike Map at godcgo.com/bike. Our friends at WABA.org have more info about bike laws, tips for new riders, what to do in case of a crash, and much more.