

Disrupting the cycle of poverty in San Francisco by preparing students to graduate from college.

JOB ANNOUNCEMENT

Teacher & Facilitator of Learning- OnePurpose School

OnePurpose School (OP) is a TK-5 school in southeast San Francisco. OP is a free, open-enrollment, college-preparatory, public charter school. OP's model brings together four major educational advances in service of our students: project-based learning, STEM, personalization of curriculum and a keen focus on fostering student agency. We will add grades 6-12 in the future, providing a unified TK-12th grade program to our community.

Who We Are Looking For

Teachers are our most important resource in fulfilling our mission. As such, OP seeks exceptional and innovative educators to serve students in our early elementary grades. We will add teachers each year as we grow.

Why Join Our Team

OP teachers have a unique and exciting opportunity to be part of an exceptional team dedicated to fully preparing its students to go to and graduate from college and, consequently, disrupt the cycle of poverty that affects a disproportionate number of Black and Latino students. Our teachers will have a deep and lasting positive impact for low-income children and families of color in San Francisco.

OP teachers will join an extraordinary team of mission-driven educators: our teaching staff brings a keen focus on student achievement and a strong ability to collaborate; the Advisory Board is comprised of accomplished educators, parents and community members; the Founding Principal comes to OP with nine years of classroom teaching and six years of school leadership as a New Leader for New Schools Principal; and the CEO brings a wealth of organizational, financial, and operational experience having co-Founded the highly successful Envision Public School network.

OP strongly believes in developing our staff. OP partners with organizations such as Seneca Family of Agencies, Buck Institute for Education, and E.L. Achieve in order to provide the highest-quality professional development to our teachers. OP teachers also have access to dozens of partner schools around the country through OP's partnership with Next Generation Learning Challenge.

What Makes the Right Fit

OP seeks teachers who:

- Have a demonstrated commitment and track record of success supporting low-income Black and Latino students in urban areas in achieving high levels of academic and social-emotional success
- Passionately believe, and relentlessly act upon the belief, that EVERY child can and must succeed in their classroom
- Are committed to collaboratively creating high-quality, rigorous and relevant project-based learning curriculum for their students
- Use data to constantly track, adjust and readjust their instruction to serve their students' needs and personalize instruction
- Can give and receive constructive feedback as part of a professional learning community, leading to stronger practice and higher student performance
- Have the demonstrated desire and ability to forge relationships with elementary school-aged students with a keen focus on college readiness
- Are committed to developing strong relationships with their students' families
- Are able and eager to work in an environment where intense collaboration is the norm
- Have a robust work ethic, the ability to be flexible, and a willingness to maintain an 'all-hands-on-deck' approach when necessary.
