Jane Swift

Former Governor, Massachusetts

Former Governor Jane Swift has over a decade of experience as an executive, advisor, investor and board member to venture-backed, growth stage companies in the education technology and services sector. Building off her unique public and private sector leadership experiences, today Swift advises CEOs and boards as a senior level advisor providing strategy and services aimed at maximizing growth and profitability for companies with extensive dependence on government interaction. Swift was the Chief Executive Officer of Middlebury Interactive Languages, LLC until April, 2017. Middlebury Interactive, a joint venture between K12, Inc., the largest virtual school provider in the United States, and Middlebury College was the academic leader in digital language learning and grew from ~$6mm revenue to ~$23mm revenue and achieved national recognition as the academic leader under Swift's leadership. Jane Swift earned her place in history as the first woman to serve as Governor of Massachusetts and as the first governor in our nation's history to give birth while in office – to twin girls. Swift's term as Governor capped more than a decade in public service as a state senator, a lieutenant governor, a cabinet secretary and a governor. She currently serves on the boards of Suburban Propane (SPH), Ultimate Medical Academy and Champlain College as well as the Advisory Boards for the School of Leadership Afghanistan, Teachers of Tomorrow and eDynamic Learning.

Swift has been featured on national television programs such as 60 Minutes, The Early Show on CBS, The Today Show on NBC, The View on ABC, and Inside Politics on CNN. Glamour magazine once declared her "One of 11 Women Who Could Change the Country." She received a Bachelor of Arts degree in American Studies from Trinity College, in Hartford, Connecticut, in 1987 and has been awarded seven honorary doctorates. Jane taught for ten years as the Williams College Class of 1948 Distinguished Lecturer in Leadership Studies. She lives in Williston, Vermont with her husband, Chuck. They have a daughter, Elizabeth, who is a freshman in college and twins, Lauren and Sarah, who are juniors in high school.
