Integrating With Zengine For A More Connected Ecosystem

A Case Study with eCivis

Situation: eCivis helps 1,000+ state, local and tribal government agencies maximize their grant revenues, track financial and program performance, prepare cost allocation plans and budgets, stay compliant and access free open data tools to better utilize Federal resources.

With a strong platform in place for managing grant acquisition and many aspects of the grant management lifecycle, eCivis wanted to extend its value and solution to support its clients grant making and regranting activities in a seamless manner.

Solution: After exploring a variety of options from building a solution in-house to partnering and then exploring the landscape of existing software providers, they joined forces with WizeHive. Zengine was selected based on the power and flexibility of the solution which supports the broad range of needs within and across state and local government agencies, the ability to integrate, and robust security features that meet government standards.

With Zengine fully integrated into their platform, eCivis offers clients the most comprehensive, powerful and flexible solution for grant management. The combined solution is flexible and scalable enough to meet the needs of a single state agency or entire state governments. The joint solution opens up more opportunities and increases the strength and differentiation of the eCivis platform.
