- PTACs
- And many small and large prime contractors

Each year the US federal government spends $1 Trillion on contracts, loans and grants to over a million firms.

With over one million reports published daily, Fedmine is unquestionably the most comprehensive source for acquiring reliable up-to-date information on federal spending. Data is aggregated from 17 data sources and integrated into a single platform. We make the complex understandable.

Government agencies, prime contractors and a multitude of federally focused organizations rely on Fedmine because:

- The timeliness of all integrated data is unparalleled
- The completeness of our information eliminates time wasted searching through multiple databases and websites
- It is a turnkey system that is foremost user-friendly and made for the average human, not technicians
- It is scalable and affordable, and you can customize it to the max, or make no change for any federal business need
- We aggregate data from disparate but authoritative data sources, with information maximized for relevancy to the client segments we serve

Fedmine provides not only the most accurate federal spending and opportunity data available from any source, but it also provides it in real-time. Each client is guaranteed our A-Team dedicated support, including experienced analysts and researchers that are positioned to help you.

- Fedmine remains the only true SaaS platform in the federal sector ever since going live in 2007.
- We have a stellar reputation with a proven track record with all our clients.
- We are hosted on GovCloud, fully FISMA and FEDRAMP compliant.
- We leverage the Amazon cloud for high availability, speed, reliability data extraction, and the ability to implement full automation.
