

Mission Data Named Top Louisville Software Firm by Louisville Business First

Digital products company ranks first in list of largest firms in the Louisville area

LOUISVILLE, Ky, July 27, 2018 — Mission Data is pleased to announce that Louisville Business First has ranked our firm as the largest software developer in their annual Book of Lists, which ranks the hottest area companies in their fields.

The Book of Lists ranks companies by total number of full time employees, according to survey data. The list provides a comprehensive report on the latest market data on the Louisville business community.

“We are honored to be recognized for our consistent growth among so many leading companies and are proud to call the city of Louisville our home,” said Stuart Gavurin, Mission Data CEO. “We recruit some of the most talented software developers around, and as a team we all work toward the same goal — pushing our clients to the forefront of their industries.”

About Mission Data

Founded in 1996, Mission Data is a leading smart digital products company that transforms the way companies do business. Mission Data creates innovative custom software solutions for industry leading companies by applying current and emerging technologies, user-centered experience design, and expertise in digital product engineering. Mission Data is located across the country with primary offices in Louisville, KY and Washington, DC. For more information, visit www.missiondata.com.

