

Adam Bellefeuille

Adam is a Senior Project Accountant with Hines in Charlotte, NC and has had accounting and financial reporting responsibilities for various office, retail and development projects in the southeastern United States. He was part of the Hines team responsible for leading the firm through the conversion from Argus DCF to Argus Enterprise and he drafted the firm's Argus modeling standards adopted during the conversion. Previously Adam has worked for Faison & Associates, a real estate developer in Charlotte, NC, and AMB (now Prologis), a real estate investment company in Boston, MA, and has been using Argus throughout his 15 years in the real estate industry. Adam received his BS in Accountancy from Bentley University in Waltham, MA.