

PRODUCTION CONTROLLER

WANT TO BE PART OF MOVING LIFE SCIENCE FORWARD?

ABOUT THE JOB

This position is highly tied to our future success and the right candidate will make a significant footprint to our growing business. Svar Life Science is facing a lot of fun challenges and we're now looking for someone who's prepared to roll up their sleeves and take on the responsibility of our production and finance controlling.

Responsibilities include, but are not limited to:

- Create and set up routines and processes to enable financial follow-up of production results
- Set up, maintain and be responsible for indirect costs to/for product groups
- FIFO cost price analysis
- Capacity analysis
- Support Supply Chain and stock maintenance.
- Create an understanding of the financial flow generated from production
- Analyze and follow up results from production on a detailed level
- Project follow-up
- Manage and participate in projects
- Investment analysis

Location: Malmö

Reports to: Finance Director

To apply: Last day of application: 2019-07-15. Please send your CV and application letter to Roi Rekrytering. Apply as soon as possible as we are working continuously with the applications.

ABOUT YOU

The successful applicant has documented experience from producing/manufacturing companies. You have an academic degree in finance and documented experience as a production controller. If you have worked in a fast-paced environment in the past and enjoy building something from the ground, we're excited to talk with you.

As a person you are analytical and have a good sense for both details and the big picture. You are business oriented and quality conscious with a high ability to prioritize and work towards deadlines. You are used to work independently and structured with a focus on driving the business forward. It is important to have good "people skills" and to enjoy building relationships within the organization.

To fit and complement the team you must be comfortable with being a problem solver and create from nothing. This demands you to have a positive attitude, take initiatives and be responsible. We expect excellent communication skills in both English and Swedish and solid knowledge working with Excel.

Have any questions?

Please contact Cecilia Björklund, Finance Director
Email: cecilia.bjorklund@svarlifescience.com

ABOUT US

Svar Life Science is a Swedish company that works to enable personalized medicine by serving the global life science market with tools for drug development and companion diagnostic solutions.

We deliver answers you can trust from discovery to diagnosis - our combination of high-quality products, innovative technologies and comprehensive laboratory services are used by our customers to discover new therapeutics, diagnose patients and treat diseases.

You can be sure of our answers: we've been working right across the clinical diagnostic value chain for more than 30 years.