

Welcome to the smartest choice in solar

Getting started with the Enphase system with consumption monitoring

Congratulations! Your system has been installed and verified operational by the installation crew. You may now be awaiting permission to operate from the utility. The installer will activate the system once you have utility approval. Within two (2) days of activation, you will receive a welcome email with a link to the MyEnlighten page and your temporary password. The email address your installer used for your system is:

If you have not received your welcome email within three (3) days of permission to operate, please check your spam folder, then contact your installer. On your first visit to MyEnlighten, you will be prompted to change your password. Record your new account password here:

Keep this guide in a secure location in case you need to look up your login details. Once logged in you can upload photos, add a description of your system, make the system publicly viewable (your address will not be disclosed), and more.

Thanks, and congratulations on making the smarter choice in solar technology.

Understanding Your System

Log in to see your system anytime at enlighten.enphaseenergy.com. Or download the MyEnlighten app from the Google Play or App Store.

MyEnlighten gives you information on how much energy your system is producing and alerts you to any trouble with the system.

Learn how to maintain your system and troubleshoot any issues by clicking on the "Help" button on the top right corner of the page or going to enphase.com/myenlighten-help.

Welcome to MyEnlighten

MyEnlighten connects you with your Enphase Home Energy Solution. You can monitor your Enphase System solar production, see how much energy you're using, and quickly confirm system health, all from any web connected device.

Quickly confirm performance. If there's an issue, you'll see a summary and troubleshooting tips.

Share energy performance with your friends and family.

Are you a data enthusiast? You can get detailed information on Enphase System production or energy consumption in multiple views.

Get a quick understanding of your daily production, how much energy you're using and the day's net energy. Click back through previous days to see trends in performance.

Visualize your energy trends. See how much you use and produce every 15 minutes throughout the day.

This bird's eye view of your PV system gives you insight into overall system production. If there's an issue, this bird's eye view of your PV system will show exactly which panel is affected.

Want MyEnlighten on the go?
Download the MyEnlighten app for iPhone or Android.

Go to enphase.com/myenlighten-help to learn how to upload photos and a description of your system, run reports, and allow your system to be viewed by the public. (Your address will not be disclosed.)

From the leader in solar innovation

