

Vogal Spreads 500 Tonne and is still going strong

During the National Fielddays of 2011, it was brought to our attention that there was a Vogal Spreadmax 400 spreader out there, owned by Bruce Tomlin of Taueru in the Wairarapa, that had spread close on 500T in 10 years with basically nothing spent on it. “After finding out his spreader had completed such an exceptional amount of work, spreading everything from lime to urea and even a bit of grass seed, we decided to give him a new one, such a special occasion needed a special machine”. The machine that was presented to Bruce was a one off 50th anniversary commemorative Vogal 400.
