

Team Performance 1: Clarifying Context

VIRTUAL WORKSHOP

Having a shared picture of the current situation helps the team place its mission and tasks in perspective. People operating from different assumptions leads to well-intended but misaligned actions. Shared context increases the team's collective intelligence as it spreads awareness and knowledge across the team.

This workshop helps team leaders and executives get everyone on the same page about what the heck is going on. It's for those who are required to re-focus and re-prioritise their team's efforts due a sudden change in their situation.

- Practical
- Easy to use models
- Facilitated by experts

Winsborough's psychologists have worked internationally with leaders and teams in war-zones, during natural disasters, business mergers, disestablishments and startups. We have coached hundreds of teams and wrote the book on team psychology. Learn from deeply experienced professionals how to lift team performance.

“The ultimate guide to building a high-performing team: authoritative, data driven and extremely practical.”
