Solutions for Affordable Housing

Habitat for Humanity Southern Alberta is a non-profit organization working for a world where everyone has a safe and decent place to live. Our mission is to mobilize volunteers and community partners in building affordable housing and promoting homeownership as a means to breaking the cycle of poverty.

Habitat's homeownership model empowers families by providing a "hand-up, not a hand-out". Through volunteer labour and donations of money and materials, Habitat builds and rehabilitates simple, decent houses alongside homeowner (partner) families.

Consisting of Chapter affiliates from Brooks, Calgary, Medicine Hat, and Mountain View, Habitat Southern Alberta is a member of Habitat for Humanity Canada, and part of a worldwide network that spans 80 countries, which has built over 500,000 homes. Locally, Habitat for Humanity Southern Alberta has served more than 130 families, building more than 130 homes.

"I really didn't think that homeownership would happen for me... finally having a place to call home, being able to do it on my own, without having to worry about where my daughter is going to be or where we're going to end up truly is a dream come true. Thank you."

—Sandra, Habitat Southern Alberta Homeowner

Habitat for Humanity Affiliates Merge to Provide More Families with Affordable Housing

In order to increase the level of support that Habitat for Humanity is able to provide in several Alberta communities, the organization's Brooks District, Calgary, Medicine Hat and Mountain View Affiliates have undergone a formal merger, following approval by all Affiliates' board of directors. Effective January 1, 2012, the four affiliates combined resources and staff under the new name Habitat for Humanity Southern Alberta.

With the merger, administrative resources are being centralized out of the Calgary office. The intent is to have a Habitat for Humanity Chapter in each of Brooks, Mountain View, and Medicine Hat, which will continue to be run by local volunteers and conduct activities such as fundraising, volunteer engagement, and partner family recruitment and support locally. With greater operational efficiencies, volunteers and staff will be able to devote more time and effort to addressing housing need in each of these regions of Southern Alberta.

By consolidating resources and operational activities, the new affiliate can better leverage shared resources, ultimately enabling the organization to deliver more homes and more hope to local families in need of safe, decent and affordable housing.

Our Mission

To mobilize volunteers and community partners in building affordable housing and promoting homeownership as a means to breaking the cycle of poverty.

The Habitat family is a diverse collection of people who have come together for a common purpose, to help break the cycle of poverty for hard-working, low income families through a homeownership model. Our family includes our Habitat partner families, who are living proof that with a “hand-up,” the trajectory of people’s lives can be changed immediately and also for generations to come. We are so fortunate to hear the stories every day of our families, and witness first-hand the impact that the stability of their home has on their lives. One mother explains how her son has already settled down and is doing much better in school - even though they have not yet moved into their home. Another father talks about how he used to have to choose between paying his rent and buying the necessary medication for his daughter – the same father who this year was able to upgrade his education and can now proudly refer to himself as a college graduate – a dream he never thought possible. Another mother’s perspective on the world and her own situation has changed after completing some of her sweat equity hours in Haiti, through the Build It Forward program.

Our Habitat family also includes the more than 2,500 volunteers who contributed in excess of 41,250 hours last year. Individual volunteers, corporate groups, board members, core construction workers, church groups, students, families and friends have helped us lead our organization, build homes, serve customers in our ReStore, organize special events, and complete necessary administrative tasks.

On our job sites the meaning of “family” is reflected in the chatter and cajoling as our core volunteers work alongside our partner families. We are all one family. The messages of hope and love written on the framing walls by the 250 women who participated in our Women Build said it all, “hammered with love,” and “a lot of love makes a house a home.”

In 2011 we welcomed several newcomers to our ever growing family – the Affiliates of Brooks District, Mountain View and Medicine Hat all voted to merge with Habitat Calgary, forming Habitat for Humanity Southern Alberta. Consequently, we have now extended our boundaries across almost the entire lower half of the province, bringing our total number of partner families to 145.

Our supporters, donors and partners are also part of our Habitat family. Their contributions enable us to achieve homeownership for so many families, and through such diverse service models. The successful airing of Paul Brandt’s “Build It Forward” program on CMT told the stories of seven families whose lives were transformed when they became Habitat families and moved into their own homes, but also paid it forward by completing some of their sweat equity hours in developing areas of Mexico and Haiti. Through the acquisition of homes from Calgary Housing Company, five families will be moving into homes in well-established neighborhoods with schools, public transportation, and extensive community networks – homes that we have completely “re-built” inside and out. Our highly successful PEAK program continues a program with Trico

Homes, Trico Charitable Foundation, Alberta Municipal Affairs, and Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation. This resulted in an additional 67 families achieving homeownership in townhomes built by Trico Homes as part of a larger multi-family complex, bringing the total since the start of the project to 113 families. And as the last families were moving into our 10-plex in Cochrane, we had already started work on a duplex in Airdrie.

The backbone of our Habitat family is the small contingent of dedicated staff who together coordinate all the activities towards the goal of helping families achieve homeownership. Their contributions and commitment have allowed us to merge and keep the movement strong as we serve an ever increasing number of families.

Upon signing his mortgage documents, one of our parents summed up his appreciation in his carefully composed statement “you have given me firm-footedness in life” - a strong, stable foundation from which his family can grow and prosper. So to each member of our Habitat family, our sincerest thanks, for helping us build homes, and build hope.

CONSTRUCTION

Airdrie

Habitat for Humanity Southern Alberta is excited to become part of the Airdrie community to construct our first homes in the community of Bayside. The development is comprised of a semi-detached home, close to schools and other amenities and is anticipated to be certified Platinum through the Built Green Canada Program.

The Airdrie project was originally spearheaded by the Airdrie Faith Build. Back in 2008, the community group was discussing the need for affordable homes in their own “back yard” and decided to approach Habitat Southern Alberta. Over the past three years, the group has worked tirelessly to bring Habitat to the area by advocating for the issue of affordable housing locally, as well as through fundraisers and events. With the vision and persistence of the Airdrie Faith Build, Habitat broke ground in Airdrie in October 2011 and two local families will soon realize the dream of homeownership.

Partners: Airdrie Faith Build, ATB Financial (Airdrie branch), Canadian Merchant Savings Directory (Airdrie branch), CrossIron Mills, Genesis Land Development, The House that Agriculture Built, RBC Foundation, Scotiabank, TD Canada Trust, and ZJ Solutions.

Calgary Housing Rebuilds

Habitat for Humanity Southern Alberta has partnered with Calgary Housing Company to offer another solution to the growing demand for affordable and safe housing options locally. Through this unique initiative, Habitat Southern Alberta has acquired five single family homes in well established communities close to schools, public transit and community resources. The homes will be “rebuilt” and completely renovated inside and out, and upgraded to meet a minimum Gold Standard through the Built Green Canada program.

Cochrane

We are proud to be a part of the town of Cochrane, bringing much needed affordable housing to the community. We broke ground on the first of two, five-plex multifamily units in November 2010 with construction completed on both phases in December 2011. Ten local families are now in their new homes. The project is built to the highest environmental standards (platinum level) through the Built Green Canada Program.

How it Works

Habitat for Humanity’s homeownership model empowers families to invest in homeownership. Through volunteer labour, and donations of money and materials, Habitat for Humanity builds and rehabilitates simple, decent houses with the help of homeowner (partner) families. Habitat homes are sold to partner families with no down payment required and are financed with affordable, no-interest mortgages. The homeowners’ monthly mortgage payments go into a revolving fund, which is used by affiliates to build more homes for more families in need.

Who Qualifies For a Home

There are three criteria a family must meet to qualify for a Habitat home:

- In need of affordable housing: The family income must be within the low income cut off range for their particular region and their existing living conditions must be inadequate in terms of structure, cost, safety or size.
- Able to repay a Habitat mortgage: The family must have a stable income sufficient to cover the monthly Habitat mortgage payments and other expenses that come with homeownership.
- Willingness to partner with Habitat: Homeowners must demonstrate a willingness to partner with Habitat for Humanity by contributing 500 hours of volunteer labour (“sweat equity”) towards the building of their home and other projects.

Habitat homeownership program reduces the barriers to homeownership for individuals and families in financially vulnerable situations. Our model is one of partnership, where families become part of their own housing solution by building and purchasing their own homes.

THE DRABICK FAMILY

For the Drabick family,
a Habitat home is where the heart is

Thad and Lisa Drabick are a warm and entertaining couple and have a natural talent for public speaking. They are full of inspiring stories about their experience with Habitat for Humanity. Before receiving their Habitat home, the family found it increasingly difficult to manage their housing expenses, with the added burden of medical costs resulting from their daughters varying disabilities.

“I had to make a choice between putting a down payment on a house, or caring for my family,” says Thad. When the Drabick’s youngest daughter, Mary, was diagnosed with cerebral palsy, Thad explained that he felt like he was letting down his family as the ‘provider’ because he was having trouble covering the medical costs. The house they lived in before applying for a Habitat home was not suitable for the family’s needs. It was cold, poorly insulated, and inaccessible for Mary and her wheelchair. Their costs were increasing, and they did not know how they would be able to continue.

“At one point we went to buy an eight dollar Harry Potter book, and we had to decide whether we really needed it because money was that tight,” says Lisa. A friend had suggested they look into applying for a Habitat home. The couple learned that Habitat does not provide ‘hand-outs’. Rather, applicants must go through a rigorous process before being approved for a home. Thad realized he would be expected to provide 500 hours of ‘sweat equity’ to contribute to building their home. The prospect no longer seemed like charity, but a collaborative effort with Habitat.

The Drabicks filed their application with Habitat in early December 2003. When they got the confirmation that they were approved, they went to their property, which was just a patch of dirt and grass and danced and cried on the spot. That was the beginning of the homebuilding process and with the help of Habitat volunteers, workers and donors, the home was completed.

During the initial steps of the building process, the Drabicks experienced the misconceptions people have about Habitat for Humanity and the families they work with. Some residents in prospective communities mistakenly believe Habitat families are dangerous to the community, and would ultimately lower the appeal and property values in their neighbourhoods.

As a respectable family with children of their own, Thad and Lisa understood the concerns of the residents, but worked to educate them about the homeownership process, and its stringent requirements. As a stay-at-home mother, Lisa felt that the opportunity to take part in the build and work off the sweat equity allowed her to contribute to her family and their new home. Thad completed the balance of sweat equity hours by working on the house, and volunteering at the ReStore while also working in a full-time capacity.

“Habitat families are good neighbours because they are Habitat ambassadors,” says Lisa. The families are thankful for the opportunity to own a home, and they take pride in caring for their investment and their communities. They appreciate the work and expertise that Habitat has provided and they are motivated to contribute to their good reputation. The families understand the hard work that went into building their home, and they are committed to being a valuable part of the community.

In the past eight years, the Drabicks have established themselves as contributing, productive members of the community and they are happy with their decision to partner with Habitat for Humanity. “It was a beautiful moment to see all the volunteers and Habitat staff ready to work on the first day that we broke ground. There was a sense of purpose.

Everyone contributed for the same reason,” Thad remembers.

On October 18, 2004, the Drabicks experienced the unique Habitat phenomena called the ‘Blitz Build’, and 49 volunteers showed up to take part in the all-day building event. Lisa and Thad fondly remember the Blitz Build as one of the top three moments in their lives, immediately following their wedding and the births of their children.

Partnering with Habitat has allowed for Thad and Lisa to go back to school and further their educations. Since moving into their home, Thad has completed the Object Oriented Software Developer fast-tracked program through SAIT, and Lisa has earned her Human Services Certificate from Columbia College, and plans to return for her diploma.

TABBY & HER BOYS

Habitat for Humanity: Providing a “hand-up” to Tabby and her family

Before living in her Habitat home, Tabby had dealt with many challenging experiences. She left an abusive relationship to build a better life for her children, but her residence was infested with mice and she was paying $1,500 per month in rent. Tabby recalls her life before Habitat, “After paying for my house, I barely had any money left over - it was very difficult for my three boys and I.”

Tabby did not apply for a Habitat home right away, but after encouragement from a girlfriend, Tabby found the courage to complete her application in 2006. After going through a series of interviews and home inspections, Tabby received the good news, “When I got the call at work I was so excited to have been selected, I definitely cried with joy.” Tabby knew how much owning a Habitat home would make a difference for her boys.

Tabby remembers working long hours to help build her home. One of her most memorable moments, was the day she decided to stay late to see the roof completed. “It was amazing to see, and when I got home, my kids had to come and drag me out of my car because I was so tired, but it was well worth it.”

“I appreciate my home so much more because I helped to build it,” states Tabby. She learned how to install insulation, put up drywall, paint and construct a roof. Tabby is now using her new-found skill set, to renovate and redecorate her living room and the children’s bedrooms herself.

“All of the nice things I have in my home are because of the sponsors and volunteers,” states Tabby. She still keeps in touch with her home sponsor, TransCanada Pipeline, who donated funds towards building her Habitat home.

Tabby explains why volunteering with Habitat is so rewarding, “You’ll have the time of your life! You’ll learn and laugh lots through other people sharing their stories and experiences.”

Tabby takes pride in owning her own home and has worked hard to be a valuable member of her community. “Habitat does not give homes to just anyone, you have to be willing to partner with Habitat, demonstrate long-term employment and have a strong credit history to qualify.”

Tabby explains the importance of giving back, “I am really appreciative of what Habitat has done for my family which is why I still maintain a great relationship with them.” She often speaks to prospective families that are considering an application for the Habitat program and is very eager to share her experience.

OUR VOLUNTEERS

Our volunteers provide the majority of the labour for the overall construction of our Habitat homes. Individual volunteers, corporate groups, church groups and student groups join together for the single purpose of providing safe, decent and affordable housing for families in need. In 2011, more than 2,500 volunteers dedicated their time and energy to help organize, plan, design, and build Habitat homes, as well as help with the ReStore, administrative tasks and special events.

Many volunteers celebrated milestones with Habitat Southern Alberta in 2011. Congratulations to following dedicated volunteers!

The Habitat for Humanity ReStore sells quality, new and used furniture, appliances and building materials to the public at greatly reduced prices. All products are donated by local people or businesses keeping helpful items out of the landfills. ReStore proceeds help cover Habitat Southern Alberta's administration costs, ensuring that donations go directly to the construction of affordable homes for families in need.

Each year, ReStores in Canada divert thousands of tonnes of waste from landfills, including over 21,000 tonnes of materials in 2011 alone. By accepting and reselling new and gently used products from consumers, as well as end-of-the-line, discontinued inventory, and customer returns from retailers and manufacturers, ReStores' ensure products are reused rather than wasted.

Customers can expect to find materials such as windows, doors, appliances, paint, furniture, light fixtures, building materials, and more at the ReStore, and are encouraged to visit regularly as new items arrive daily.

Whether shoppers are looking to put a fresh coat of paint in their home, re-furnish or decorate a room, or dispose of an old kitchen sink or cabinets, the ReStore is the perfect location to donate and source reasonably priced items.

In 2011, ReStores across Canada celebrated 20 years. To commemorate this milestone, the Calgary ReStore had a birthday celebration in June. More than 300 visitors shopped throughout the store, while enjoying cake, refreshments and in-store specials. From humble beginnings in Winnipeg, Manitoba, when five volunteers created the ReStore concept and opened the first store in 1991, there are now 74 ReStores located across Canada, including one in Calgary and Medicine Hat.

SPECIAL EVENTS

Independent special events, or third-party fundraisers, are a very important component of our fundraising activities. Events like these allow Habitat Southern Alberta to increase our capacity to build more homes to make the dream of homeownership a reality for deserving families. 2011 was a terrific year working with many great organizations.

Gordon Food Services (Calgary)

GFS Canada partnered with Habitat for Humanity with a goal to build a house in each of their Canadian markets over the next eight years. GFS Staff from all offices in Canada fundraised through various local activities. The first annual Calgary run/walk event was held at Edworthy Park in September 2011 which helped raise $10,700 for Habitat Southern Alberta.

Good Earth Café Holiday Gingerbread Campaign

The Good Earth Coffeehouse and Bakery cooked up a delicious gingerbread holiday treat in support of Habitat for Humanity Southern Alberta. All Good Earth locations, including Cranston and Airdrie, were selling packages of fresh-baked gingerbread families with some proceeds from each sale, going towards Habitat Southern Alberta.

Diamonds and Denim 3rd Annual Fundraising Gala

Airdrie Faith Build group hosted a Dress up or Dress Denim evening that included a delicious prime rib dinner, an assortment of wonderful silent auction items, live auction and fabulous door prizes. Our Airdrie families were announced that evening and everyone danced the night away with Skuzzy & the Woodticks. $20,000 was raised through the Gala.

Northland Mall

During the hustle and bustle shoppers took some time to visit Gingerbread Lane. It was a sweet place to get in the holiday spirit and have some fun with their kids. Various activities were available to participate in and get your picture taken with Santa. Donations were graciously accepted and raised $7,435.

Delta Hotel and Resorts

Over the summer months, Delta Hotels hosted various fundraisers and BBQ themed events in support of Habitat Southern Alberta. They hosted a family weekend adventure in Kananaskis, the 'Thrill of the Grill' BBQ series, the 3rd Annual 'Lobster BBQ' and the 'Titanium Chef Cook-Off' to raise $25,000 to help build safe, decent affordable housing for Habitat families in need.

Lafarge Golf Tournament

Lafarge hosted their 13th annual golf tournament at the Calgary Elks Lodge and Golf Club, raising $61,975 for Habitat Southern Alberta. A big thank you goes out to Lafarge for their ongoing commitment and priority to provide, safe, decent and affordable housing to local families.

CrossIron Mills

CrossIron Mills supported Habitat Southern Alberta with various initiatives in 2011, including the 5-for-5/Mark Giordano Autograph session and silent auction, A Stampede Breakfast, and Holiday Gift Wrapping and Gift Certificate drive, raising more than $20,000.

WOMEN BUILD

Poverty ends at home

Women Build is an international movement that transforms the lives of women and their children around the globe. Women Build 2011 was held in May with 250+ women gathering in the community of Cochrane to help build two, five-plexes. Many participants experienced construction for the first time and were thrilled to be giving back to their community.

Presented by Burnet, Duckworth & Palmer LLP, Women Build is an annual event at Habitat Southern Alberta. We look forward to hosting participants from May 7th - May 12th, 2012 in the community of Auburn Bay in Calgary, Alberta.

PEAK HOMEOWNERSHIP

In partnership with Trico Charitable Foundation, Alberta Municipal Affairs and Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation, the PEAK Home Ownership Program is aimed at assisting hard working Calgarians who need a “hand-up” to qualify for a mortgage.

In its inaugural year, more than 60 families achieved homeownership in condominiums built by Trico Homes in the Milano development in Panorama Hills. There was an assortment of one and two bedroom apartment style and three bedroom townhome style condos.

PEAK units were also available in Laredo Place in Cochrane, where four families realized the dream of homeownership. Another 60 families will get a ‘hand-up’ into affordable homeownership with York 29, a 188 unit townhome development under construction in the SE Calgary community of New Brighton. For more information, visit www.peakcalgary.ca.

peak Home Ownership™

PEAK is short for “Public, Essential And Key” workers:

- Public stands for public sector workers such as civic, provincial and federal employees.
- Essential stands for essential workers like teachers, health care workers, social services, firefighters, police officers, paramedics and air traffic controllers.
- Key stands for key workers needed for a vibrant Calgary; like artists, trades people, non-profit sector, service industry and journalists.

BUILD IT FORWARD

In partnership with country singer Paul Brandt, the Calgary Homeless Foundation and Samaritan's Purse, Habitat Southern Alberta changes the lives of seven local families and families' abroad with Build it Forward.

Hosted by Paul Brandt, Build it Forward, a documentary series on CMT Canada, chronicles the journey of seven separate families who receive a brand new home. As the recipient family works first-hand in the construction of their new home, they also “build it forward” by volunteering to help build a new home for other families in earthquake-ravaged Haiti and flood-devastated Mexico.

With Build it Forward, Habitat Southern Alberta offers another solution to the growing affordable housing issue, assisting with the family recruitment and selection process. Even after the families move into their homes, Habitat continues to offer ongoing support, working along-side each family, making a long-term commitment to their well-being. Through homeownership, Build it Forward makes an impact on the lives of the seven partner families.

The seven homes are located in the growing Calgary communities of Cranston, Evanston, and New Brighton, as well as in the town of Cochrane.

The series premiered on CMT in September 2011.

5-FOR-5

A unique partnership championed by Mark Giordano of the Calgary Flames

In an effort to address the issue of affordable housing both locally and globally, Mark Giordano from the Calgary Flames and his wife Lauren launched “5-for-5” in January 2011. The program raises funds and creates awareness to build Habitat homes. Of these homes, four will be built in developing countries and the ‘5th’ home in the Calgary area. The ‘5th’ home is the end unit of our first 5-plex on Sibbald Street in Cochrane, Alberta. Mark and Lauren were thrilled to support the family, Carl and Kimberly, who purchased the home in spring 2011.

The international projects involved with “5-for-5” are located in Kenya, Ethiopia, India and the Philippines. “5-for-5” will work in partnership with the Habitat for Humanity Canada Global Village program which consists of short-term house-building trips designed to give people the opportunity to observe and contribute to Habitat for Humanity’s work first-hand. Thousands of volunteers from around the world work hand-in-hand with local families in support of this program.

Mark Giordano launched the 2nd season of “5-for-5” with an autograph session and silent auction at CrossIron Mills in November 2011. Hundreds of people were on hand to meet # ‘5’ of the Flames as well as support Habitat Southern Alberta. For more information, visit www.5-for-5.ca.
