PDi-TAB devices have a micro USB cable that is mounted inside the nose cover extending from the neck of the unit. This cable allows service personnel to provide offline updates to the Android firmware. In addition, this cable and the USB port it is attached to, support the USB On-The-Go (OTG) standard, which allows the connection of external devices such as flash drives and keyboards. The devices that attach to this cable along with any other external cabling must also support the USB OTG standard along with being supported by the Android firmware. For instance, if a flash drive is attached, (ex: Sandisk BN140600028 supporting FAT32, NTFS, or EXT file systems) any pictures on the device will appear in the Gallery.

Note: Microsoft's exFAT file systems found on flash drives greater than 32 GB by default and Mac OS file systems are not supported by the PDi-TAB.
