

Hybrid document management

The challenge and opportunity

Some organizations still hesitate to collaborate and store their documents in cloud solutions and there can be many reasons behind this approach.

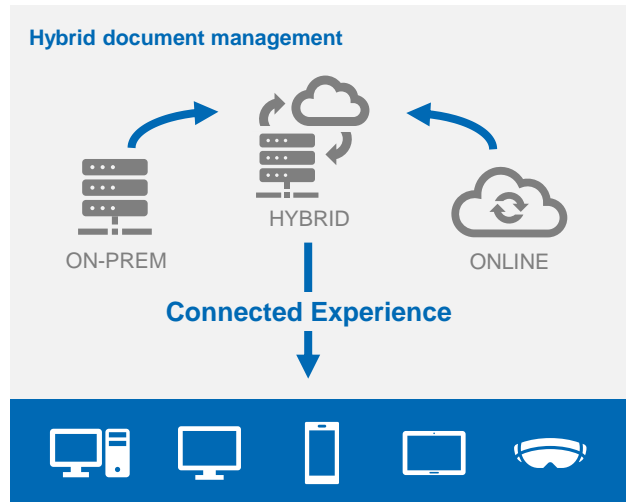

One thing that might be hindering organizations is the lack of control when it comes to data classification, or it could be pure legal and regulatory compliance requirements put on their business and industry.

But it could also be the simple fact that the organization already has been investing in expensive and fully functional local storage solutions that dampening the willingness to transform and utilize the power of the cloud.

The solution

By designing and implementing a hybrid document management solution it's possible to get "the best from both worlds" and still be secure and compliant.

An "Intelligent Intranet" solution where SharePoint on-premise and SharePoint Online is joined in a hybrid setup enables the organization to keep documents that need to be stored locally in their current storage solutions at the same time as the organizations can benefit from all the power of the cloud in a modern, secure and compliant way..

The value

A hybrid solution based on the Microsoft 365 platform enables organizations and all their users to create, edit, find and consume documents both online and local from any device in any location to drive engagement and innovation.

Document sharing with external parties can be configured to enable only access to online content while local content may only be available to the internal organization or any trusted partners.

Combining the hybrid solution with all the additional security features in Azure and Microsoft 365 enables even more granular control where access to local content from a non-trusted location could require multi-factor authentication.
