

Modern workplace envisioning

The challenge and opportunity

The values and importance in providing the organization a modern, secure and adaptive way of working is well-known. Still many organizations struggles with where to start that journey and getting their ambitions in this area into a tangible and actionable vision that can be evangelized within the organization and execute upon.

Since a modern workplace strategy is all fuel by the power of the cloud, that also introduces significant differences in both technology as well as how to manage it over time. This raises new questions, decisions and possibilities that need to be understood and considered to lay a solid foundation for a successful transformation.

The solution

A solid transformation plan is all based on ensuring awareness and alignment of key stakeholders around the possibilities a cloud powered workplace introduces and the business benefits it would bring.

This without getting into the pitfall of initially focusing organizational constraints and technical dept and legacy.

This will then define the organizations joint set of goals and ambitions that goes into the detailed plan of changes needed and assessed from a financial, technical, viability and value add perspective.

The value

Organizations will have a structured yet innovative and explorative way of accelerating their journey to a cloud powered Modern Workplace.

The anchoring of a joint set of goals among key stakeholders are done in a co-creative and inclusive way that enables a coherent way to communicate and drive user adoption within the organization.

Prescriptive strategic direction that clearly connects the organizations core ambitions to potential benefits and values of a Modern Workplace.

A tangible and actionable start of the transformation plan with focus on maximizing the business value of a cloud powered and user centric way of working.

The how

By using our structured approach we will guide and lead the customer through a series of envisioning sessions with the goal to start crafting a tangible, co-created and solid entry point for the organization to start their journey to transform into a modern and digital way of working.

With decades of experience and deep technical expertise in bringing modern workplace experiences to customers in all industries we will bring unique insights in a prescriptive way to ideate and challenge the customer in the potential a new and modern way of working would bring to that specific organization.
