THE COURAGE TO LEAD

Courage is a quality that is at the core of every physician leader - taking that first step to go to med school, saving lives in the ED or in their practice, and leading every day within their community.

The 2019 Spring Summit celebrates every physician who has harnessed the courage inside themselves and used it to create positive change and innovation within health care.

Welcome to the American Association for Physician Leadership's 2019 Spring Summit —The Courage to Lead. We believe you will find the next several days to be informative, inspiring and thought-provoking, whether you are a second Annual Vanguard attendee, an Annual Meeting attendee, Wellness 2.0 attendee or in our Fundamentals of Physician Leadership cohorts.

We have included a stellar group of keynote speakers who will share their thoughts on how they found the courage to lead across a wide spectrum. And as always, there will be time for re-connecting, networking and engaging with friends, colleagues and mentors, and of course learning the skills to have the courage to lead.

Dr. Peter Angood

Interdisciplinary Relationship Management

Managing professional relationships is something that all physicians must do every day. However, this skill isn't as easy as it sounds. With different personalities, priorities, and approaches to communication, relationships can become complicated in the blink of an eye. This course provides insight into strategies required to maintain successful working relationships across disciplines and within the confines of your own department.

Proceed Until Apprehended

Leaders are able to build organizational trust when the workplace is consistent, predictable, and non-threatening. Creating this type of environment might feel impossible at times, but trust within an organization can be achieved with some effort. The “Proceed until apprehended” mindset is one approach proven to support the development of organizational trust.
