

Travis W. Freeman, CFP®

Author & Financial Wellness Expert

As seen in:

As a child, Travis fell in love with understanding money and how it affected peoples' lives, having seen first-hand how it affected his own family and upbringing. He knows what it's like to live on food stamps. Travis went on to earn a degree in Finance and Economics from Missouri State University and vowed to help educate Americans about the complex topics surrounding personal financial planning.

Today, as president of Four Seasons Financial Education, Travis is brought into organizations across the United States to help educate audiences on the importance of financial wellness programs. He has authored a book titled, Make Your Money Work, a six-step guide to creating corporate financial wellness programs. Travis is also president of the St. Louis Financial Planning Association and enjoys spending time with his wife, Marina, and identical twin boys, Bruce and Dominic.

Hundreds of organizations have entrusted the professionals at FSFE to provide important and timely financial education. From hospitals, to law firms, to Fortune 500 companies, Travis has presented to thousands of people and always brings the perfect combination of education, humor, and motivation.

If you are looking for a great speaker on the topic of financial wellness, then Travis and the professionals at FSFE are for you. Join the hundreds of groups that have already sponsored FSFE.
