What is Hibiclens?

Hibiclens is an antiseptic and antimicrobial skin cleanser used to prevent skin infections. It is typically used by patients before procedures and by hospital medical staff to reduce the risk of cross-infection.

How to use it?

Hibiclens can be purchased in a bottle from a local pharmacy. Shower with Hibiclens the night before or the morning of your procedure.

Make sure to scrub both sides of your chest. This is important to prepare you for the procedure.
