Spectrum™

Colour changing print feature with “movement” and “on/off” effect using proven latent image technology

---

Classification

Print feature

Security Level

Level 1

Security benefits and threats countered

Spectrum™ is a sophisticated anti-copy feature that is resistant to colour copier, scanner or desktop reproduction.

How does it work?

By combining litho print technology with specialist Intaglio techniques, a two-colour moiré effect or colour flip result is achieved.

Demonstrated by

When viewed normally, the printed design appears as uniform in colour, but when tilted, a different pattern in multiple colours can be seen.

Additional information

Spectrum™ offers complete design flexibility, can be printed in virtually any shape and designed to integrate into any spread.

This feature also offers some tactile qualities as a result of the intaglio process used to achieve this effect.

This feature was originally designed for use on banknotes but has now been optimised to work on other high security documents.

Spectrum™ is a dynamic feature that is easy to identify and adds interest to inspection.

Usage

Passports, visas, banknotes and other security documents.
