

Business-class email and calendaring Exchange Online

Businesses like yours use email more than any other application

Business runs on 3 levels:

1. Getting by—serving customers, hiring employees, keep the lights on
2. Growing—acquiring new customers, developing employees, opening new locations
3. Getting ahead—expanding customer offerings, enhancing employee productivity, reducing operational costs

Moving up to the next level takes freedom from daily tasks so you can focus on building your business. However, many businesses get stuck before they get started – processes undermine productivity, systems dictate how you work, security threats disrupt workflow, and limited systems drain your budget.

Business-class email helps you work smarter

Free email is limiting you

You might be...

- Wasting time managing your inbox
- Unable to customize your business email addresses
- Perceived as less professional by your clients
- Unable to integrate business apps with your email

In-house email is costing you

You might be...

- Locked into your license count
- Less secure
- Spending too much time as an IT manager
- Unable to plan for surprise upgrades
- Giving your server valuable office space
