

Microsoft 365 Business

A fully integrated teamwork solution for SMB

Employees spend 80%
of their time on collaborative work

A workplace set up for the way you work.

The amount of time employees spend engaged in “collaborative” work—in meetings, on phone calls, or answering emails—has increased by 50% over the past two decades, and now takes up 80% or more of employees’ time.

As employee teams increasingly span across roles and regions, it is more important than ever to enable all team members to collaborate effectively.

Can you answer yes to these 5 questions?

Does your business share information effectively?

1

Can you predict customer needs and deploy your employees to respond quickly?

2

Can you safely share data with external suppliers and contractors?

3

Have you started taking steps to modernize your business?

4

Can you respond to new information about your operations to make timely decisions?

5

You're not alone if you can't answer "yes" to all 5 questions. Many organizations find it hard to deliver a rich, dynamic collaboration experience that is also secure.
