Learner Forum Feedback

“The Learner Forum provided me with a platform to get over my nerves when presenting to a large audience. It has helped me to be creative and think outside of the box when designing new activities.” Malika Arora, Hawk Training apprentice

“Because I found it very beneficial and an overall enjoyable day, afterwards I was considerably more clued up on every aspect of a business administration apprenticeship and my future prospects.” Dominique Clarke, Health Education North Central and East London, apprentice

“As an apprentice I got to learn about presenting to a large audience, and also how to engage the other learners using audience participation. I was very nervous, but we all practised which paid off.” Chloe Freedman, Hawk Training apprentice

“The Learner Forum provided me with the opportunity to meet apprentices and discuss how best we can shape our model to meet the needs of our learners.” Ben Long, Hawk Training apprentice

“The best part of today has been interacting with other apprentices and finding out how they came to start an apprenticeship. I really liked the group work too. I feel like I am really helping to get the word out about apprenticeships, the Learner Forum has helped me to get involved and feel like I am a part of something.” Daniel McPherson, Herne Hill Road Medical Practice apprentice

“I enjoyed working with my colleagues to create an event that would be beneficial for our apprentices and being able to meet them face-to-face for the first time” Luke Kotowski, Hawk Training apprentice

“The Learner Forum was a great opportunity to meet other learners on a similar path to achieving successful careers.” Samuel Aluko, Hawk Training apprentice

“I cannot praise the apprenticeship side of it enough. My tutor has been supportive even regarding matters outside of my role, i.e. advising on tax and travel as an apprentice. I have had consistent support from my tutor pushing me. I have enjoyed today and meeting other apprentices.” Ethan O'Connor, Xerox apprentice

“I have gained invaluable knowledge and experience in organising an event, which I now feel has given me confidence.” Jessica Inostroza, Hawk Training apprentice

“It’s been good to see what other apprentices are planning on doing after their apprenticeship. I finish in two months, so I’ve been able to find out what other opportunities there are.” Fatima Rana, Ealing Council apprentice

“I am new to the company so taking part in the Learner Forum gave me more of an insight in to what we do at Hawk. It also gave me a chance to network with other apprentices” David Kagoro, Hawk Training apprentice

“Today I have been given the opportunity to give my own opinion on our apprenticeship progress, and also improve processes. The networking aspect has been really good; I’ve got to compare my experiences with other apprentices.” Misan Boyo, Genesis Housing Association apprentice

“The Learner Forum helped me gain an understanding of each individual and explore the different opportunities available for young people and being reassure them that they are not alone in their journey to achieve their qualification”. Sonni Hayes, Hawk Training apprentice
