Digital Permit Application Form

Replace paper with digital automation

- GovPilot clients share a construction permit application form on their official website
- Mandatory field population ensures key information is provided prior to submission
- Payment processing capabilities promote revenue generation
- The form can be completed and submitted via desktop, laptop or mobile device for optimal convenience

Mobile Compatibility

Kiss your clipboard good-bye!

- Access GovPilot on site via tablet and enjoy its full range of capabilities
- The mobile portal retains information entered in the field and shares it with your colleagues at the office in real time for seamless collaboration with members of your department and beyond
- Eliminate the wait! Email inspection notes to the contractor and/or homeowner directly from the field

Web-Based Server

Seamless collaboration for painless processing

- Field and form data is stored in GovPilot's secure, web-based server
- The server is always accessible to those with role-based permission from virtually any device
- Convenient, comprehensive information promotes collaboration

Workflow Automation

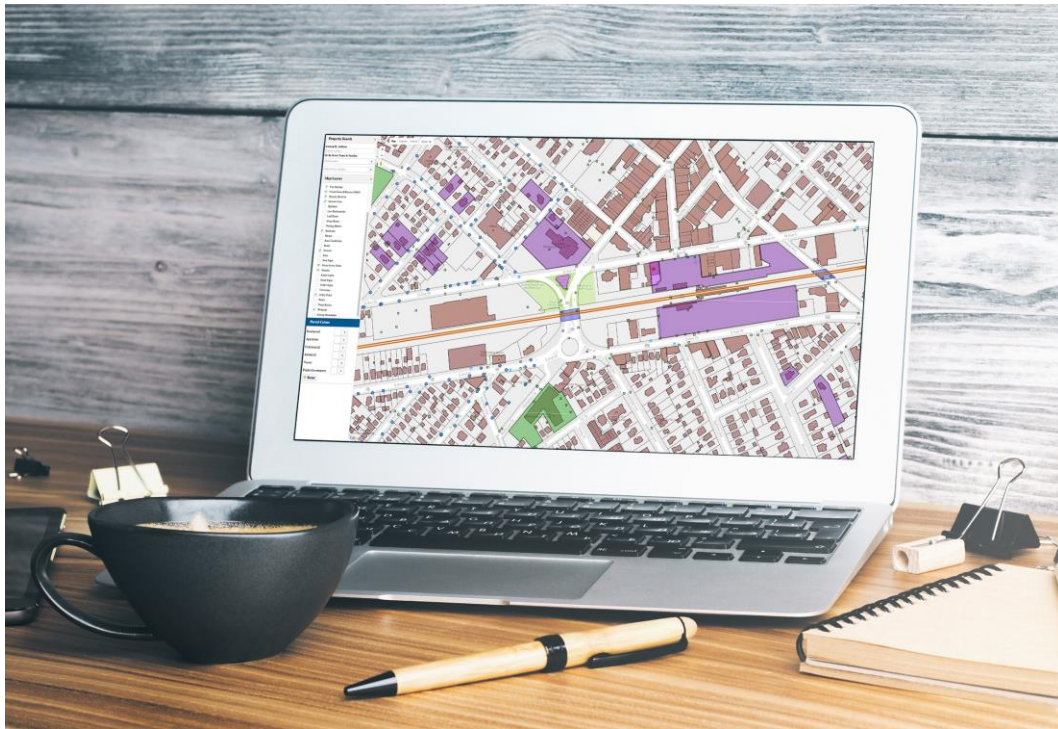

Replicate and automate existing chains of command and orders of operations

- Upon submission, the applicant and designated employee both receive a notification. So begins the automated workflow portion of the process as well as the clock
- Automation eliminates miscommunication, information barriers and other common impediments to progress

GIS Mapping

Publicize building and construction rules and regulations to promote transparency

- Easily illustrate zoning rules and regulations on GovPilot's GIS map
- Granting residents 24/7 access to commonly sought data sets clears confusion to reduce call volume

GovPilot's Construction Permitting Process

Summary of Benefits

- GovPilot Helps Local Governments Across the US
 - Streamline the construction permit application and issuance process
 - Operate more transparently
 - Enjoy greater productivity
