What is Cisco Webex Teams?

Teamwork in modern organizations isn't just about meetings; it's about collaboration, integration, security and connectivity. Participate from wherever you are, on any device from an application that integrates with essential business tools. Webex Teams is an end-to-end collaboration tool with voice, video and file sharing that allows its users to connect face-to-face securely as though they're in person.

Apply newer technologies on top of old hardware; the software installation process is straightforward and easy, making it simple to invite participants, and schedule and start meetings. This collaboration software works on any mobile device (phones, tablets, laptops), from anywhere without requiring special adaptations. Not to mention, whenever you send files containing sensitive and confidential information or otherwise, there is a secure form of transmitting this data.

With Cisco Webex Teams, real-time screen sharing enables you to work together like you do in person by making presentations, reviewing documents, demonstrating applications, sharing anything on your desktop or passing control and letting someone else be the presenter. Not to mention, the high audio quality allows you to interact without interruptions, allowing you to meet project deadlines and maximize your resources by bringing people together without the time and expense of travel.

Finally, record and replay meetings – an important feature for those who are unable to attend a meeting but need to be involved. Evolve NX – and Cisco offers network solutions that help you focus on your business.
