

Why Choose a PMI

Registered Education Provider (R.E.P.)

PMI: The Global Authority

Project Management Institute is the world's leading not-for-profit professional membership association for the project, program and portfolio management profession, delivering value for more than 2.9 million professionals working in nearly every country in the world.

In the last few years alone, PMI Registered Education Providers (R.E.P.s) have trained an estimated 3 million students worldwide, in 82 countries, across all major industries and government agencies.

Capturing the Value of Project Management

As businesses increasingly have to do more with less, implementing strategy effectively has become more important than ever. Project management fundamentally meets this need—by providing proven, standardized practices for meeting project goals.

The three critical project management skillsets needed for successful projects are technical project management skills, leadership skills, and strategic and business management skills. According to PMI's Pulse of the Profession® annual study, two in three organizations (66 percent) found the greatest difficulty in finding resources with adequate technical project management skills.

“Over 90 percent of organizations believe that to truly succeed, project practitioners need to have training in technical project management skills, leadership, and strategic and business management. PMI Registered Education Providers are the resource for organizations and individuals to find the right training.”

The Registered Education Provider (R.E.P.) Program

The PMI R.E.P. designation is the highest mark of excellence in project management training. R.E.P.s are organizations approved by PMI to offer project management training. R.E.P.s must meet or exceed PMI's rigorous quality standards and requirements.

Because they are aligned with PMI, R.E.P.s are preferred by:

- Organizations seeking to manage their talent and develop effective project teams
- Practitioners seeking certification preparation and continuing education

Training can take place face-to-face, in an interactive group setting, or online, through interactive instructor-led courses, or on demand.

The R.E.P. Directory

Organizations in a range of industries, certified practitioners, and those working toward certification trust PMI to help them find the right training, and get the most out of their investment in professional development.

The R.E.P. Directory streamlines the process, providing an easy-to-use online directory of PMI R.E.P.s that are approved to issue professional development units (PDUs) for training courses and events.

Why Choose a Registered Education Provider (R.E.P.)?

We created the R.E.P. Program to establish a global network of qualified education providers. It is an extension of our mission to advance the profession. We've seen the transformation that's possible when organizations implement effective project management practices and principles—and R.E.P.s help make this happen.

The R.E.P. designation certifies that an organization can deliver world-class, PMI-approved project management training. PMI's recent survey of training providers shows that over 80 percent of organizations seeking training providers strongly prefer R.E.P.s. Individuals seeking project management training view the R.E.P. affiliation as a stamp of quality and excellence.

You can also be assured that an R.E.P. will provide training designed to capture the value of project management. R.E.P.s not only teach proven, standardized project management practices—they also help organizations adopt a project management mindset.

Excellence: An Ongoing Pursuit

Because it is practiced in a complex, rapidly changing business environment, project management is a dynamic field. In order to maintain their status, R.E.P.s need to be informed, agile and adaptive.

- Instructors must stay up-to-date on current data, trends and learning methods, and enhance their knowledge through continuing education
- Courses must be aligned to the PMI Talent Triangle™
- R.E.P.s must demonstrate continuous improvement of courses

“PMI’s 2015 Pulse of the Profession® study found that the projects of high-performing organizations successfully meet goals two and a half times more often, and waste 13 times less money than their low-performing counterparts. This is the value project management delivers.”
