New Year Brings Major Changes for Employee-Owned DVL Group, Exclusive Delaware Valley Liebert Representative

Data center solutions company lauds new CEO and Executives

Bristol, Pa. – (Jan. 12, 2017) – As of the first of the year, DVL Group, an employee-owned data center solutions company, appointed Gary Hill as its new CEO. Mr. Hill, who has been with the company for over 20 years, is the company's fourth CEO since its founding in 1985. He most recently served as President of Data Center Solutions prior to succeeding former CEO Michael Beck.

Simultaneously, Mr. Beck transitioned from the role of CEO to Chief Marketing Officer. In this newly formed position, he will focus on his passion of marketing, as his 33 years of experience in the industry will serve as a major asset to his efforts. A main goal of his is to work with Marketing Specialist, Jodi Holland, to communicate to the marketplace how DVL can solve their IT challenges and to empower employee-owners to expertly serve customers.

Other organizational changes include the creation of several additional executive level positions. Sanja Motz, formerly Director of Service Sales, is now DVL's first VP of Service Operations. Jim Boyle, formerly Controller, is the new Director of Finance, and Kerry Shepherd, formerly Internal Sales and Service Manager, will serve as Director of Operations.

Another recent change that greatly affects DVL Group, is the rebranding of Emerson Network Power, now known as Vertiv. As of December 1, 2016, Vertiv became the new name of the company that manufactures the majority of the products that DVL Group sells, primarily, Liebert Products.

Mr. Hill is welcoming these changes as he is enthusiastic about starting the year, as well as his tenure as CEO, off on the right foot. "I am thrilled to have the opportunity to lead DVL, and am inspired by the employee-owners I work with." He is confident that DVL Group is only getting started when it comes to expanding capabilities. He adds, "I look forward to continuing the momentum we have established in our marketplace and will embrace the inevitable changes that come along with it. Today, information technology is the core of every business, and our chance to support it, with critical products and services, has never been better."
