

GTY's CityBase Is Honored in Built In Chicago's Prestigious Best Places to Work List in 2020

(AUSTIN, TEXAS, January, 13, 2020) – GTY Technology Holdings Inc. (Nasdaq: GTYH) ("GTY"), a leading provider of SaaS/Cloud solutions for the public sector, announced today that its business unit CityBase was included in Built In Chicago's list of Best Places to Work in 2020. Companies are selected based on data submitted by companies and their employees.

"We're honored to be recognized as a top place to work in Chicago," said Megan Flanagan, Vice President of People at CityBase. "It's really the people here that make CityBase such a special place — the innovation and collaboration. We all come from different backgrounds but hold a common mission to make government easier for everyone. The fact that we also get to build really cool technology is a bonus."

Maria Christopoulos Katris, CEO and Co-Founder of Built In, said: "We extend our heartfelt congratulations to our 2020 honorees. Built In aims to change lives by connecting talented tech professionals with jobs they were born to do. These companies have become part of that mission because they stand for more than just the work they're doing. They stand for their people and purpose."

She added: "We also extend our gratitude. These companies exemplify what it means to be an employer of choice for today's purpose-driven tech workforce. Writing about them inspires us daily and, in terms of our offering, gives us total confidence that the professionals who visit our websites will find work that gives them a strong sense of professional and personal meaning."

Forward-Looking Statements

This press release includes "forward-looking statements" within the meaning of the "safe harbor" provisions of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. The company's actual results may differ from its expectations, estimates and projections and, consequently, you should not rely on these forward looking statements as predictions of future events. Words such as "expect," "estimate," "project," "budget," "forecast," "anticipate," "intend," "plan," "may," "will," "could," "should," "believes," "predicts," "potential," "continue," and similar expressions are intended to identify such forward-looking statements. These forward-looking statements include, without limitation, the company's expectations with respect to future performance and anticipated impacts of the business combination. These forward-looking statements involve significant risks and uncertainties that could cause the actual results to differ materially from the expected results. Most of these factors are outside of the company's control and are difficult to predict. Factors that may cause such differences include, but are not limited to: (1) the ability to recognize the anticipated benefits of GTY's recent business combination transaction, which may be affected by, among other things, competition, the ability of the company to grow and manage growth profitably and retain its key employees; (2) costs related to the business combination; (3) the outcome of the New York and California lawsuits among the company, OpenGov, Inc. and the other parties thereto; (4) the inability to maintain the listing of the company's common stock on The Nasdaq Stock Market; (5) changes in applicable laws or regulations; (6) the possibility that the company may be adversely affected by other economic, business, and/or competitive factors; (7) any government shutdown which impacts the ability of the company's customers to purchase its products and services; and (8) other risks and uncertainties included in the company's registration statement on Form S-1 (File No. 333-229926), including those under "Risk Factors” therein, and in the company’s other filings with the SEC. We caution you that the foregoing list of factors is not exclusive, and readers should not place undue reliance upon any forward-looking statements, which speak only as of the date made. We do not undertake or accept any obligation or undertaking to release publicly any updates or revisions to any forward-looking statements to reflect any change in our expectations or any change in events, conditions or circumstances on which any such statement is based.
