Ontellus & Premonition Partner On Legal Analytics

Ontellus announces integration of Premonition's legal analytics into its digital records retrieval platform

HOUSTON, TX – April 25, 2019 For Immediate Release

Ontellus, the industry-leading, nationwide medical and billing records retrieval and analytics technology company, and Premonition, the world's largest litigation database, announced publicly today a partnership that integrates Premonition's LitigationScan™ directly into the My.Ontellus platform to better serve Insurance carriers and law firms.

"Providing more intelligence and analytics to our insurance carrier customers continues to be a focus of our company," says Darren Klauser, CEO of Ontellus, "We are delighted to increase the value we can provide to insurance claims and litigation offices by integrating Premonition into our solution."

Premonition CEO, Guy Kurlandski, founded Premonition with his Co-Founder, Toby Unwin. "Our goal has always been to bring transparency to law", says Guy. "By combining the power of Ontellus and the insights of our most popular product, LitigationScan™, we can help clients identify which of their claims might be at risk due to challenges such as a tough venue, judge, or opposing counsel."

The partnership will enable insurance companies to leverage the power of legal analytics directly from My.Ontellus where companies are already entering claims and litigation case information today. The two companies will both be attending the upcoming 2019 RIMS annual conference, presenting the partnership to attendees April 29-May 1 in Boston, MA.
