

3M Half Facepiece Disposable Respirators 5000 Series Recall

Pinhole found in the chin area of the face seal

3M has issued a User Advisory that indicates an immediate stop use for certain versions of their medium- sized Series 5000 Half Facepiece disposable respirators. An internal inspection has found that a small percentage of the affected respirators contain a pinhole in the chin area of the face seal which may result in an air leak. It is possible to identify the presence of the pinhole with a visual inspection. If no pinhole is visible, the respirator may be used as intended. If a pinhole is found, do not use the respirator and dispose of it. Examples of the affected respirators are pictured below:
