

Scout Research: How it Works

Scout Research gives you access to the most comprehensive data in construction so you can confirm job details and ensure documents are sent to the right people with the right information.

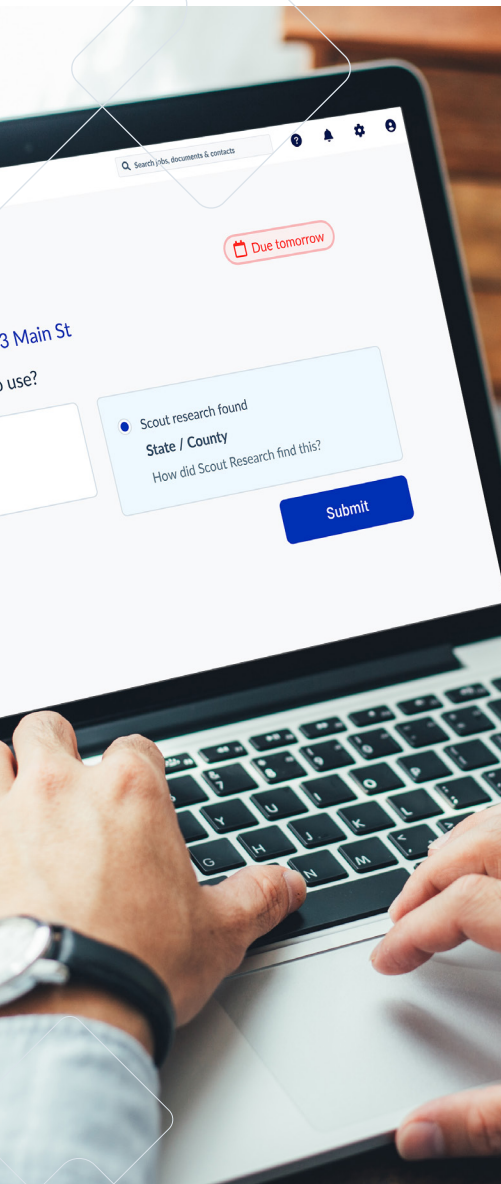

"I love Scout Research! It makes the whole process of getting documents to the correct people so easy. Now if I don't have contractor, owner, lender, or other information, instead of taking the time to do a ton of research, I can click that 'Ultimate Research' button and know that it will get figured out."

Joan Elmore, AR Specialist at US Glass Company

Scout Research is available in three tiers so you can choose the level of job research you need for each job.

		Scout Standard	Scout Pro	Scout Ultimate

What does the Scout Research process look like?

Scout Standard

Find and verify basic job information using an advanced construction database search.

Scout Pro

Find and verify more obscure job details using a database search powered by Levelset's Job Trees technology. Our Scout Pro Research team will provide an additional level of personal review when necessary.

With Scout Pro, you'll receive notifications of research findings that include labels for confidence levels giving you more information in your review process.

Scout Ultimate

Partner with our renowned Scout Ultimate Research team to find lenders, sureties, and general contractors on your jobs. The Ultimate team will go the extra mile to make calls, emails, and take other creative measures to track down job details.

"Through a minimal amount of information we provide, Levelset can do the legwork to get the details needed to send our preliminary notices. For us as a company, that has always been the biggest challenge. If job details are missing, Scout finds it."

Jason Emanuel, CFO at Faulkner Haynes
