

zlien

How a growing contractor took the stress out of getting paid

Taking control of lien rights was the key to protecting receivables for Central Texas Lath & Plaster

Tripling growth led to spreadsheet nightmares

With business tripling and expanding across state borders, Katy, the accounting manager at Central Texas Lath & Plaster, knew that tracking notice deadlines in spreadsheets was going to be a major risk to bringing in revenue and securing their lien rights.

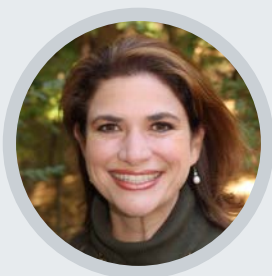

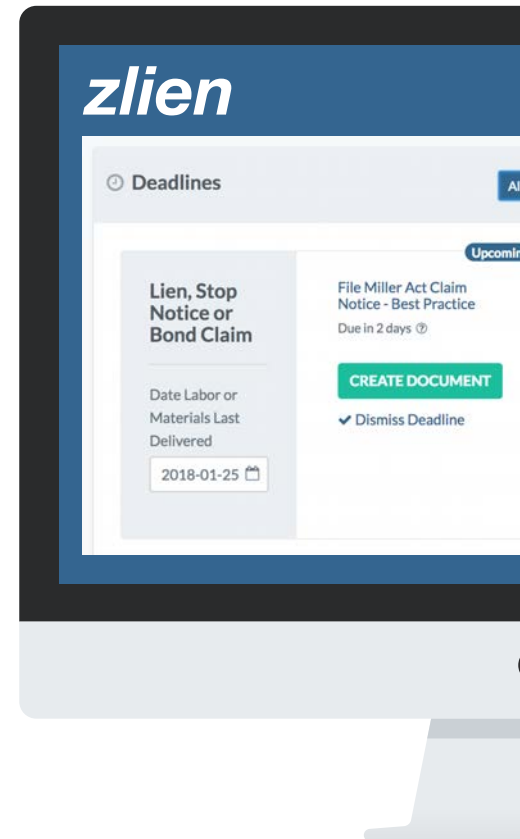

Never missing deadlines to secure lien rights

Worried about aging receivables and overwhelmed with a broken process, Katy knew they needed help. zlien automatically tracks deadlines and requirements for every state, empowering Katy to file the right documents. What used to take her an entire day now only takes 15 minutes.

Peace of mind knowing payment is protected

Katy's stress has lifted knowing that sending the right notices at the right time is now just a matter of a few clicks. Katy ensures that Central Texas Lath & Plaster gets paid quicker and will avoid trouble collecting receivables in the future.

The beautiful thing is that with the zlien platform I'm able to see the required documents, and the dashboard shows upcoming deadlines, which is extremely helpful.

Katy McGee, Accounting Manager, Central Texas Lath & Plaster
Masonry Subcontractor Based in Texas, Operating in Over 5 States

Want to learn more about how zlien can help your business? Let's talk.
(866) 720-5436 • zlien.com