OnDemand Video Lectures

The Ultimate Supplement for a Guaranteed Path to Success

Designed by experts and available for all major study topics, our new OnDemand Video Lectures are the latest expansion to the ExamFX interactive learning portal.

Visually Engaging Learning Experience

We understand the importance of visual engagement as part of a learners' training program. This is why we have developed a cost effective learning solution that includes our OnDemand Video Lectures. These newly created videos are organized by key concepts to directly correspond with the study by topic section within our online learning portal. Led by content experts, enriched with animations and available 24/7, this is the ultimate learning supplement for your candidates.

Learners can also decide how to best use this new feature to fit their specific study needs. Watch each video while progressing through the corresponding study by topic chapters, review only specific concepts that need extra remediation or watch all videos consecutively for a personally simulated live presentation experience. Essentially access our complete training program all with the click of the mouse.

Key Benefits of OnDemand Video Lectures

Increase retention by providing a compelling and visually impactful way to learn and recall key concepts.

Structured to focus on key concepts, allowing users to quickly find and review specific material for remediation.

Learners can create their own live presentation and study how they want, where they want at any time.
