+ A DAY IN THE LIFE OF A VHR RECRUITER

Morning

'I commute in to the central office near London Bridge and walk along the Thames, taking in the river view and historical sights including Tower Bridge. The sales team starts off every morning with a quick catch - up, where we have 15 minutes together to discuss what we're working on, get support with any challenges and identify new opportunities.'

Once we've created our action plan for the day, we catch up with our clients to ensure we are focusing on the requirements that will deliver what they need. We then work with our delivery team to find the right candidates for our roles, and identify new areas for business development.'

Lunchtime

'Around midday we have lunch with the rest of the team at VHR in our dedicated lunch break area. We take advantage of the fresh fruit delivery – free every day as part of our Healthy Heroes initiative – and often go for lunch at one of the nearby restaurants. The team work hard but also make time to relax and socialise together.'

Afternoon

'Everyday at VHR offers new experiences, from negotiating contracts with a new automotive client in Italy, to attending tradeshows in Hamburg and Dubai, to representing the company at the Superyacht Cup in Palma.'

Every day at VHR presents unique opportunities and we work together as a team to tackle challenges. VHR has a strong ethos and a strong team, and is a great place to work.'
