ReportManager© eliminates paper and speeds the delivery of information!

Overview

ReportManager© bursts any valid PDF file into a directory structure of your choosing (including to a web site) and can even merge multiple PDFs into a single report package. Indeed ReportManager© began the concept of a PDF report package and is the only tool that is capable of building one! It is extremely flexible with powerful system variables so that you don't have to change anything from day-to-day or month-to-month.

ReportManager© is also able to email reports or report packages to multiple people and/or groups. Alternatively, it is able to publish reports to a Sharepoint Library.

Security in ReportManager© be customized for each report, allowing you to specify who will or will not receive the report and what they can do with the report once they receive it. Security is integrated with your accounting application so that it reads users, logins and emails directly from your existing system. No need to worry about synchronizing outdated information.

Other applications can only burst a single report by employee. ReportManager© can burst reports by any code (such as office, department, practice group, title, rank, etc.) and allows you to associate an unlimited number of email addresses with each code. This gives you unprecedented flexibility in distributing office or practice group report packages. You may also assign a different password to each code as well. This password is applied to the PDF as it is processed.

ReportManager© also has the ability to insert fields into any PDF as it processes it. This turns any report into a form which may be filled out by the end user with Adobe Reader (Writer is not required!). After filling out the form, a simple push of the button will send that information directly back to the database where it may be used for archival, query and reporting.
