

Proprietary Balance Program

If you read our last post about physical therapists hiring audiologists, you are interested in the business of balance and providing the best patient care possible.

There are so many more patients with vestibular and balance dysfunctions you could be helping in your clinic.

With FYZICAL, you become the ONLY answer for treating balance and fall prevention patients, in a huge market with a MASSIVE unmet need.

And no, we're not just talking about foam and dome balance techniques like an Epley Maneuver or a Dix-Hallpike. We're talking about actually helping these patients. (You'll see exactly how when you hear how hiring an audiologist can influence treatment plans for these patients).

The competition for orthopedic patients is huge. Balance therapy? There is virtually zero competition.

There is money flowing into the PT profession because there is so much opportunity to change the healthcare industry and patient lives. Proactive and prevention-focused care is the future and FYZICAL is leading the way.

Adding FYZICAL's Balance Program to your private practice is the answer to a changing industry and a fall crisis.

This is just a fraction of what FYZICAL's business model has to offer.

You may have questions... Unfortunately they can't all be answered by reading this article.

Because this opportunity is so vast, and practice owners across the country are becoming members of FYZICAL so rapidly, these questions will all be answered at PT Revolution.

FYZICAL's business model, PT-Rx (and everything it entails) will be shared at PT Revolution, and private practice owners across the country are invited to explore it...at no cost.
