

Expertek Introduces Cloud Migration Offering for Distributors

MARLBOROUGH, MA — June 12, 2017 — Expertek Systems, a leading provider of cloud software solutions and services for distributors, today announced Expertek Cloud Migration, a comprehensive solutions and services packaged offering for distributors migrating to the cloud.

Designed specifically for the unique requirements of distributors, Expertek Cloud Migration includes: Infor™ CloudSuite Distribution™ a complete enterprise solution specifically developed for the wholesale distribution industry, cloud managed services, comprehensive IT services delivered via the cloud from Expertek's data centers, and strategic business and technology consulting services.

Expertek cloud managed services provides all the services distributors need to run their business successfully on the cloud including IT infrastructure, application hosting, network management, storage, security to backup and disaster recovery. A monthly subscription price is based on number of users.

As part of Expertek Cloud Migration, consultants, with decades of experience servicing the distribution industry, deliver a complete migration roadmap which closely aligns with each distributor's specific business goals, while navigating the complexities of companies' IT environments, often consisting of disparate, siloed applications and platforms.

"Expertek Cloud Migration helped us eliminate the costly resources and time needed to manage an on-premise IT environment and delivered the scalability, flexibility, productivity and innovation benefits which seemed that only large enterprises could afford," said Laszlo Burian, vice president of Operations at JSI International, a leading distributor/manufacturer of kitchen and bath cabinetry. "Now, we can focus on our main goal of managing and growing our business."

"Many distributors, especially small and medium-size companies, have held back from moving and managing their legacy applications in the cloud due to uncertainty, perceived risk, lack of resources and affordability," said Ken Mostello, CEO of Expertek. "Expertek Cloud Migration removes all those barriers and offers distributors an affordable, low risk and easy way to unlock growth potential and increase revenue opportunities."
