CME Named a Top Performing Supplier by Attainia

Medical equipment and logistics solutions provider awarded for outstanding service within national planning community

WARWICK, R.I. (Aug. 15, 2018) – CME Corp (CME), a comprehensive healthcare equipment provider and turn-key logistics company, is pleased to have been recognized by Attainia for its outstanding performance.

The recognition highlights Attainia suppliers that have worked with the Attainia planning community to choose the capital equipment that healthcare providers and facilitators use to deliver advanced and high-quality care. CME was one of 13 companies ranked on the elite national list.

“This accolade is one of the most special recognitions for us because it comes from a valued business partner with such a strong reputation in the healthcare equipment industry,” said Cindy Juhas, chief strategy officer for CME. “We are proud to be recognized by Attainia for our ability to build relationships with the decision makers in medical facilities.”

Representing more than 1,000 hospitals, Attainia is the leading planning and budgeting company in the healthcare equipment sector. It recognizes its supply partners based on their ability to provide the most innovations and best standard of care for communities.

“Attainia has been focusing heavily on our supplier partners this year and our new supplier awards are an incredible way for us to highlight our key community members to our community,” said David Newton, vice president of operations for Attainia. “We have partnered with CME on several initiatives and are beyond excited to continue growing our relationship. CME’s reputation in the community of being an amazing partner to our community of both supplier and provider members is one of the reasons we have listed them as a top performer of our community.”
