

Procurement Operations Service

Scalable expertise that delivers operational agility and cost leadership

Jabil's Procurement Operations service provides customers with:

- A flexible and scalable cost model that allows you to scale your procurement practice as your business needs change
- Regionalized global procurement centers that leverage our 2,000 local procurement experts
- Processes, including tools, intelligent technologies and robotic process automation techniques that allow your business to achieve increased efficiency, flexibility and cost leadership

Procurement execution is not just a moment in time. It's a real-time, all-the-time operation that reflects constantly changing market conditions. No one knows this better than Jabil. We couldn't run a business that manages more than 700,000 parts and $15 billion in annual spend without constantly pushing the limits of procurement innovation. Our experts, intelligence and processes run 24/7/365 to stay on top of immediate opportunities.

Jabil has spent more than 50 years investing in intelligent tools, people and processes designed to ensure its procurement processes are completed with the highest-possible level of precision, day in and day out. More than 300 of the world's top brands have put their trust in Jabil to meet their cost targets and get their products to market on time. Now, Jabil is making its procurement capabilities available to companies in all industries with its Procurement Operations service.

Precise Execution in Procurement

Jabil's Procurement Operations service ensures your company's procurement success by standardizing processes and automating key transactional procedures that follow negotiated contract policies. These improvements result not only in increased efficiency and reduced costs, but also maximize contract compliance and supplier collaboration.

The service allows your company to outsource some, or all, of its procurement operations tasks, letting Jabil handle complex processes such MRP execution, supplier management, and discrepancy resolution. You work with Jabil and we handle everything else—freeing you to focus on what you do best: innovation.

This also liberates your organization from the constant task of managing commodity components, allowing you to concentrate on the high-value parts with the most impact on your bottom line. Jabil takes execution to the next level with its use of strategically located centralized procurement operations. Operating with local experts in centralized regional procurement hubs strikes the balance between maximized efficiency and local execution.

Jabil's four centralized regional procurement centers interface with over 27,000 established local and global suppliers

What are the hallmarks of first-rate procurement operations?

- Your procurement costs are among the lowest in your industry
- Suppliers are confident in your ability to meet volume commitments
- Proper attention is paid to procurement details, from correctly completing purchase orders to ensuring goods are received
- Processes are standardized according to industry best practices and procedures are automated for maximum efficiency

A Process for Procurement Success

Jabil's centralized procurement operation, globally connected intelligent procurement platform, and internal processes, ensure that orders promised to suppliers are always executed as agreed. This promotes good relations with these suppliers, helping Jabil to secure the best pricing and delivery terms for its customers.

Customers gain the ability to focus on core differentiators while Jabil's Procurement Operations team expertly handles the end-to-end procurement process

Solutions for Your Procurement Challenges

Procurement teams frequently struggle to deal with capacity constraints and keep up with the rapid pace of today's commerce. Jabil's Procurement Operations service can lighten the load for these teams by taking over tasks including transaction and order processing (procure-to-pay) and procuring to a customer's MRP.

Jabil can also bolster procurement operations with its extensive buying power and four centralized, regional global procurement centers. This regionalized expertise, along with our close-knit supplier relationships, provides efficient operations at a fraction of the cost—with on-time delivery.

The Procurement Operations service also leverages Jabil's extensive tools, robotic process automation and intelligent technologies to allow your business to achieve increased efficiency, flexibility and cost leadership.

Winning at Procurement

Procurement Operations is a mission-critical process that must be done right every time. By partnering with Jabil's Procurement Operations service, your company can ensure its purchasing operations are conducted with the highest degree of precision day in and day out, allowing you to meet your cost and time-to-market goals.

Increase the efficiency and reach of your procurement function today by visiting www.Jabil.com/ProcurementServices

