Corridor Company Releases “Planning Your Contract Management Roadmap” Ebook

Newburyport, Mass. (PRWEB) January 30, 2019

Corridor Company’s complimentary publication provides a simple outline of the paths toward contract management automation.

Corridor Company, Inc., is pleased to announce the release of a new ebook, “Planning Your Contract Management Roadmap.”

Written with contract managers and general counsel in mind, “Planning Your Contract Management Roadmap” walks readers through the planning stages of a contract management initiative. At each stage, the ebook outlines the resources and choices available as organizations move toward greater automation of their contract processes.

The ebook is non-technical, providing instead a clear picture of the choices open to people tasked with improving contract management at their organizations.

Chapters in the “Roadmap” include the following

- Your Team – Whose Input Do You Need?
- Your Goals – Making Your Processes More Efficient
- Your Solution – Choosing CLM Software
- Your Budget – Establishing ROI and Deriving Value
- Contract Migration – Benefits and Challenges

“Contracts cover a lot of ground at most companies. People who have responsibility for improving efficiency and lowering cost are sometimes at a loss where to start,” says Russ Edelman, CEO of Corridor Company. “The ‘Roadmap’ is a quick read that presents planning decisions in a logical order for people. We share the full gamut of options as to who should be involved in planning, which contracts to tackle first, and what to understand about software choices.”

“Planning Your Contract Management Roadmap” is available for download at www.corridorcompany.com/roadmap .
