Success in your Vaccine trial with Accelovance

As a result of developing vast and deep operational expertise in conducting vaccine trials, we understand the unique challenges associated with vaccine development and take your objectives to heart.

Accelovance works as an extension of your team to maximize compound value by focusing on optimizing the timeline, conduct, budget, and quality of your clinical trial as if it were our own product.

Multiple Industry Honors

Accelovance's vaccine experience and success has been recognized and honored as Best Vaccine CRO across multiple years at the World Vaccine Congress. Put that expertise and experience to work for you by entrusting Accelovance to lead all aspects of your vaccine trial through our highly-coordinated, accelerated, and cost-effective approach. We are confident enough in our results that we offer performance guarantees on our contracted work.

What We Bring to the Table

Proven experience across vaccine types: Seasonal flu, H1N1, H5N1, H9N2, H7N9, Anthrax, Plague, Smallpox, Meningitis, Herpes Zoster, Hepatitis B, Hepatitis C, TDAP, and Typhoid.

Familiarity with all routes of administration: Oral (pill/liquid), patch, electroporation, intramuscular, intradermal, microneedle, transdermal, and intranasal.

Proven experience across patient populations: Adult, pediatric, elderly, niche, at risk, and therapeutic populations (e.g., oncology and hepatitis).

Preferred site network relationships: Realize the advantage of our Accelovance Vaccine Centers of Excellence, where our cross-functional team of therapeutic experts and preferred investigative sites integrate their specialized knowledge of operational development and patient recruitment (using Accelovance's Patient Pooling™ methodology) to position your development strategy and protocol for success.

Proven experience in Government contracts: Accelovance has successfully collaborated with Sponsors to secure funding from US Government agencies (e.g., BARDA, NIH, etc.) for vaccine development. Our experience is well known to these organizations, and our team is able to leverage our experience to advance your pursuit of these contracts to benefit your organization.
