DYONYX and Single Path Enter Definitive Merger Agreement Creating DYOPATH
Merger Expands MSP and MSSP Offerings with a National Footprint

Houston, TX & Chicago, IL: DYONYX and Single Path, both industry-leading managed service providers (MSP) since 1996, today announced they have merged, effective March 5, 2020, creating DYOPATH.

By bringing together two industry MSP leaders, the transaction will create an MSP that helps organizations across all industries manage their risk, technology and people more effectively with an unparalleled delivery of exceptional customer service. The combined company will have enhanced scale and an even stronger position in the fast-growing MSP and MSSP (managed security service provider) marketplace.

The merger is a natural pairing of the two companies' complementary services and will provide immediate opportunities for clients to explore several alternatives in managed services, professional services, security services, and K-12 services. Our combined services will help our customers combat the ongoing increase of cyber threats, the growth in more complex IT environments, and the ever-increasing human capital shortages.

"I have never been more excited in my 17 years at Single Path! Combining our passionate and extremely talented Single Path and DYONYX teams will create a company that is truly focused on customer service and innovation. Together, we will expand the value we deliver to customers and create the industry's most comprehensive IT solutions provider for organizations," says, Rob Koch, CEO at Single Path. "With a combined 50 years in business, we are poised for tremendous success. For our employees, customers, and partners there is an even better future ahead. Our top priority as we complete this merger is to ensure a smooth transition for our people and continue to exceed our customers' expectations."

"The combination of Single Path and DYONYX paves the way to deliver the next generation of IT solutions that will set the standard for MSPs of the future. This merger will enable our 200 employees to deliver innovative solutions faster than ever before," says Chuck Orrico, CEO at DYONYX. Both companies remain fully committed to their core strengths as well as to the combined benefits that the new company will bring to employees and customers."
