

Terms and conditions

These are the terms and conditions for freemium users of Juro. Together with any related order form they constitute “the Agreement”. All terms and conditions previously agreed between the parties, either in writing or orally, will be replaced by this Agreement.

In this Agreement, "Juro" means Juro Online Limited and any Group Member of Juro Online Limited. Group Member shall mean any entity which, directly or indirectly through one or more intermediaries, controls, is controlled by, or is under common control with that entity, where "control" means holding, directly or indirectly, a majority of the voting rights in it, or the power to direct or cause the direction of its management, policies or operations (whether through holding of voting rights, by contract or otherwise).

1. THE JURO SERVICE

Juro is a contract management platform that enables customers to generate, negotiate, electronically sign and manage contracts, whether through our web app or via our API (the “Juro Platform”).

Subject to the terms and conditions of this Agreement, Juro will deliver to the Customer for the duration of this Agreement, solely for the Customer's internal business operations:

- (a) the non-transferable right to access the Juro Platform (the “Hosted Services”);
- (b) services as described in any SOW as agreed between the parties in writing (“Implementation Services”); and
- (c) technical support services in accordance with Juro’s standard practices (“Support Services”), (together, let’s call them the “Services”).

Any services requested by the Customer that fall outside the scope of the Services shall be charged for on a commercially reasonable ‘time and materials’ basis, quoted for separately by Juro in advance of the delivery of such services and subject to the written agreement of the parties.

The Support Services shall include commercially reasonable endeavours to provide technical support in relation to the identification of, and resolution of, errors or bugs in the Hosted Services for supported web browsers and shall not include the provision of training services unless stated otherwise in the order form.

2. IMPLEMENTING JURO

Juro may perform for the benefit of the Customer certain services reasonably necessary to allow Customer access to the Services. Such implementation services may include configuration, modification and testing and the set-up of a limited number of templates (1 template, unless cited above otherwise). Services for setting up templates shall not include the building or configuration of any conditional logic (unless cited above otherwise).

Otherwise, the only implementation services Juro shall perform are the Implementation Services mentioned above.

The Customer agrees to take all reasonable measures to allow Juro to perform its obligations to deliver the Services. If Juro’s performance of its obligations under the Agreement is prevented or delayed by any act or omission of the Customer or its agents, advisors, sub-contractors or employees, Juro shall not be in breach of this Agreement as a result of such act or omission.

3. CONTRACTS ON JURO

In this Agreement, “Contract” refers to a contract generated, submitted or uploaded by the Customer for processing by means of the Hosted Services.

Juro is not a law firm or Alternative Business Structure, is not regulated as such and Juro's directors or employees are not acting as the Customer's lawyer or providing legal advice. The use by the Customer of the Services does not create a lawyer-client relationship. The Customer understands that Juro does not practice law and therefore cannot give legal advice that can be relied upon.

The Customer shall be entitled to use the Hosted Services in respect of any contracting activity, but acknowledges that the Customer shall be responsible for verifying the compliance of the Hosted Services with any formalities or other requirements applicable to such other contracting activity. Juro is not responsible for errors in the content of contracts, nor for determining legal or regulatory requirements applicable to the Customer in respect of execution, retention or deletion of Contracts.

The Customer undertakes to determine whether any person correctly classified as a 'consumer' under applicable law is a party to any Contract, and for complying with any formalities or other requirements applicable as a result of such consumer status.

4. ELECTRONIC SIGNING

As part of the Services, Juro facilitates for the Customer the electronic signing of documents by both the Customer and the Customer's counterparties. The Customer hereby acknowledges that:

- (a) those signatures shall be treated as legally binding by both parties to the relevant legal document;
- (b) Juro is not responsible for validating those signatures or the identity of the relevant signatories; and
- (c) Juro shall not be held liable for any damages and/or losses whatsoever, whether direct, indirect, general, special, compensatory, consequential, and/or incidental caused by, or arising from, the full or partial invalidity of any signature created through the Services.

Signatures to contracts formed by the use by the Customer of the Services (in accordance with this Agreement and applicable law) are intended to meet the definition of 'electronic signature' under Regulation (EU) No 910/2014 on electronic identification and trust services for electronic transactions in the internal market, (EIDAS).

The Customer acknowledges that various contract types may not be able to be validly executed using electronic signatures or may be the subject of specific formalities, or storage and retention or information provision requirements imposed by law. For example, certain insurance and credit agreements and certain contracts with consumers.

The Customer, not Juro, is responsible for determining the extent to which of any such requirements apply in respect of its own business activities and as such responsible for ensuring that the Services are not used in respect of any Contracts which may not be lawfully be created, executed or stored by means of the Services.

5. DURATION OF OUR RELATIONSHIP

Either party may terminate this Agreement upon 30 days' written notice.

On termination or expiry of this Agreement, Juro may destroy or otherwise dispose of any of the Customer Data (as defined in clause 10) in its possession unless Juro receives, no later than sixty days after the effective date of the termination of this Agreement, a written request for the delivery to the Customer of the then most recent back-up of the Customer Data. Juro shall use reasonable commercial endeavours to deliver the back- up to the Customer within 30 days of its receipt of such a written request, provided that the Customer has, at that time, paid all fees and charges outstanding at and resulting from termination (whether or not due at the date of termination). The Customer shall pay all reasonable expenses incurred by Juro in returning or disposing of Customer Data.

After such 90-day period, the Contracts may be deleted from storage and Juro is not obligated to retrieve any further Contracts for the Customer. All sections of this Agreement which by their nature should survive termination will survive termination.

6. YOUR RESPONSIBILITIES

7. OUR RESPONSIBILITIES

Juro undertakes that the Services will be performed with reasonable skill and care. This undertaking shall not apply to the extent of any non-conformance which is caused by use of the Services contrary to Juro's instructions, or modification or alteration of the Services by any party other than Juro or Juro's duly authorised contractors or agents.

If the Services are not provided in accordance with the Services or are not provided with reasonable skill and care, Juro will, at its expense, use all reasonable commercial endeavours to correct any such non-conformance promptly. This constitutes the Customer's sole and exclusive remedy for any breach of the undertaking set out above in this clause 8.

To be clear, Juro:

- (i) does not warrant that the Customer's use of the Services will be uninterrupted or error-free;
- (ii) is not responsible for any delays, delivery failures, or any other loss or damage resulting from the transfer of data over communications networks and facilities, including the internet, and the Customer acknowledges that the Services may be subject to limitations, delays and other problems inherent in the use of such communications facilities;

The Customer shall promptly bring to the attention of Juro any improper or wrongful use of any Intellectual Property Rights of Juro which comes to the Customer's notice. The Customer shall assist Juro in taking all steps to defend Juro's Intellectual Property Rights, but not institute legal proceedings of its own accord.

The Customer agrees that Juro and its contractors are entitled to access and use the Customer Data for the purposes of providing the Services.

Juro and/or a Juro Group Member shall own and retain all right, title and interest in and to:

- (i) the Services and Software, all improvements, enhancements or modifications thereto;

The Services provide the means to store Contracts created using the Services or download individual Contracts as pdf files. Additionally, the Customer may choose to use the Hosted Services to transfer such files to, and store such files on, any third-party storage facility integrated and supported by Juro from time to time (for example, Google Drive) ("Customer Storage Partner").

The Customer acknowledges that in the event that the Customer uses the Hosted Services to transfer any Contracts to any Customer Storage Partner, it does so solely at its own risk. Juro makes no representation, warranty or commitment and shall have no liability or obligation whatsoever in relation to the use or acts and omissions of any Customer Storage Partner. Juro recommends that the Customer refers to the Customer Storage Partner's website terms and conditions and privacy policy prior to using the relevant Customer Storage Partner. Juro does not endorse or approve any Customer Storage Partner nor the services made available by it.

By default Juro stores Contracts on servers operated and controlled by Amazon Web Services (or such other hosting partner as it may contract with from time to time) with hosting in the EU.

In the event of any loss or damage to Customer Data, the Customer's sole and exclusive remedy shall be for Juro to use reasonable commercial endeavours to restore the lost or damaged Customer Data from the latest back-up of such Customer Data maintained by Juro in accordance with the archiving procedure described in its Data Security Policy in force from time to time (a copy of which is available on request).

The Processor will enter into a written agreement with the Sub-processor imposing on the Sub-processor obligations comparable to those imposed on the Processor under this Agreement, including appropriate data security measures. In case the Sub-processor fails to fulfil its data protection obligations under such written agreement with the Processor, that Processor will remain liable towards Controller for the performance of the Sub-processor's obligations under Juro may at any time assign, transfer, charge, sub-contract or deal in any other manner with all or any of its rights or obligations under this agreement.
