MANAGEMENT

Unparalleled Project Management

We run projects with streamlined efficiency. When you choose Lemberg for your project, you get a dedicated representative who will take care of every aspect of your project — permit procurement, variances and approvals, final inspection, and everything in between.

Lemberg project managers are superhero-caliber, seasoned professionals who ensure the success of your local or national project, coordinating communications between engineers, architects, contractors, designers, production managers and installers. They'll protect your brand and use their experience to proactively avoid issues. They do their due diligence, but they don't wear a cape - yet.

Dedicated. Diligent. Super.

State of the Art Technology

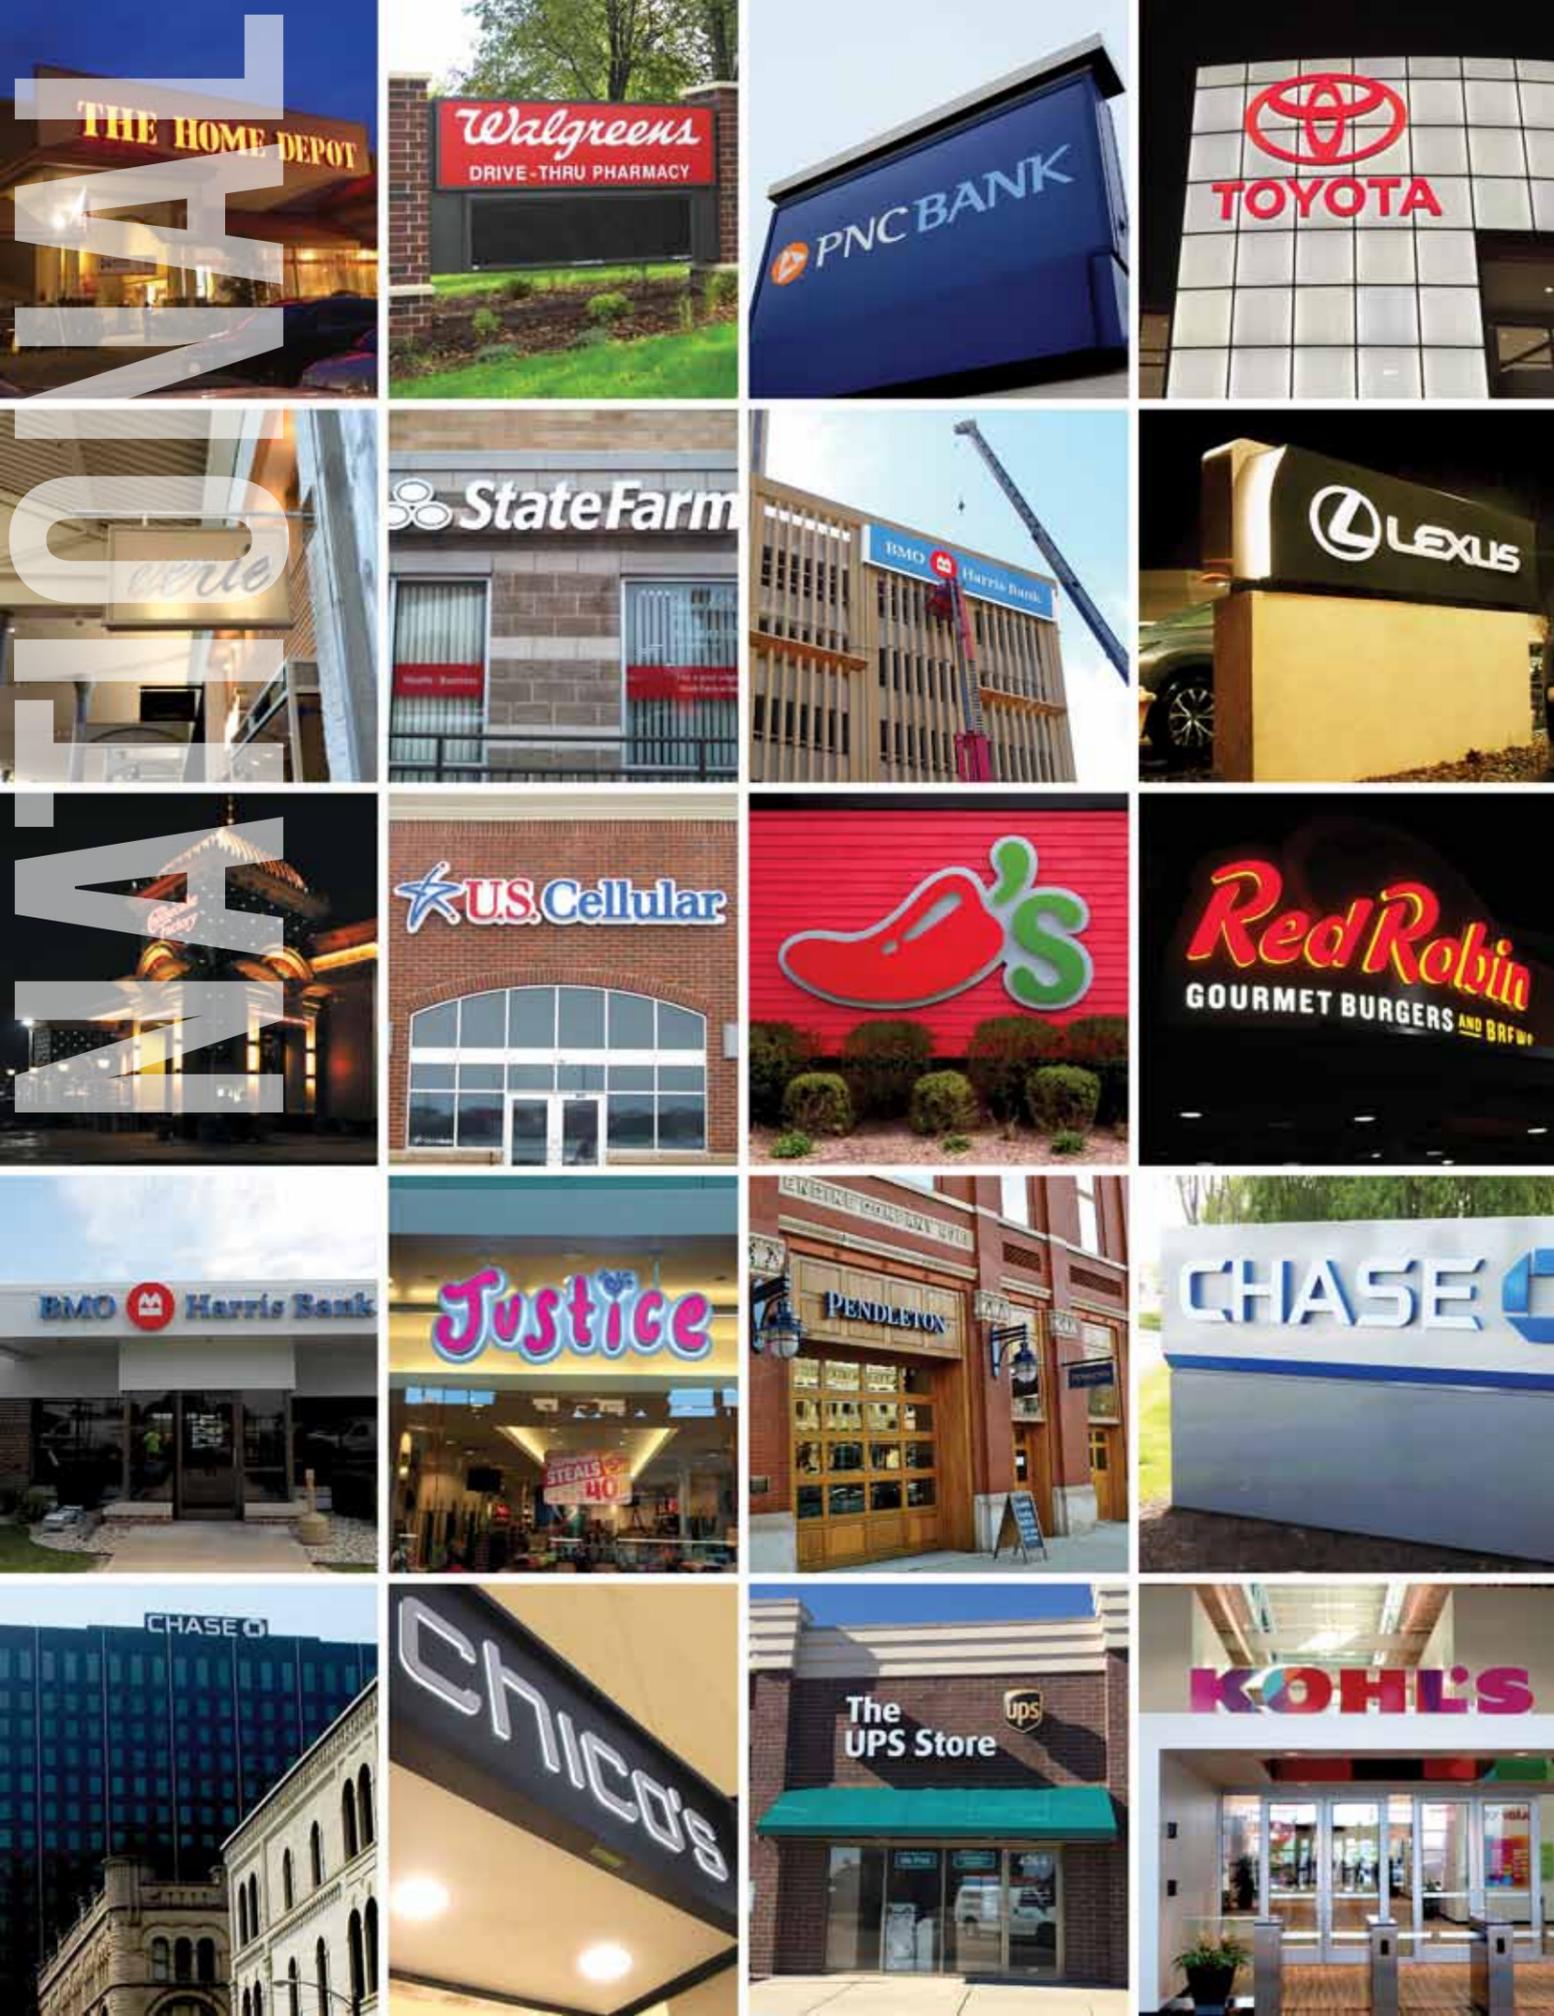

Electronic Message Centers (EMC's) are functional, customizable enhancements that add advertising and marketing potential to your new or existing signage. Consider them your front line — broadcasting promotions, events, and new products or boosting sales and awareness — 24 hours a day, 365 days a year.

Lemberg's professionals will show you how to create and schedule messages so you can start promoting immediately. Instant messaging for instant results.

If you're looking to save money, move to more efficient maintenance, or extend the life of your current sign, LED retrofitting may be the answer. Powered by just 12 volts, LEDs provide an estimated energy savings of up to 80%, and have an average life span of 25,000 to 50,000 hours — five times longer than traditional lighting.

Visual communication tools that support sustainability efforts - now that's just smart.

Efficient. Sustainable. Smart.

"Lemberg is so much more than an electrical contractor. They gave us the most professional, thorough and integrated service when it came time for our library to upgrade its monument sign. The project management is top notch, the construction phase was smooth, and the final product was delivered as planned, on a competitive budget and on time. Our small project was treated with the utmost care. We'll recommend Lemberg to anyone!"
